G. W. FINLEY,

National Treasurer.

COMMENTS ON THE REPORT

Doubtless the first thing you will notice about the financial statement for the past year is that it shows a surplus instead of the deficit that we all felt we were practically sure to suffer this time. This surprising result was probably due to the stimulus of our big "War Problems" National Convention held at Minneapolis in April. In spite of war conditions, limited transportation facilities, and other difficulties we had 94 chapters represented in that convention, and it proved to be one of the most important and successful conventions we have ever held. The results of that convention and the wonderful financial showing for the past year speak mighty well for the vigor and resourcefulness of our society. We shall be facing increasingly difficult conditions for the duration, but we'll meet them as we have met difficulties in the past and come through with flying colors in the end.

A glance at the individual chapter reports will show that the old chapters ranked as follows as to the total amount of money sent in during the year: 1, Winthrop College, $236.70; 2, St. Olaf College, $148.50; 3, Simpson College, $105.68; 4, Aberdeen State Teachers, $105.20; 5, Central, Iowa, $102.76; 6, DeKalb State Teachers, $102.32. Our seven new chapters made an unusually good showing: McPherson College led off with $209.08, Pepperdine College came second with $189.83, and Millikin University third with $163.54.

EDITOR'S PERSONAL PAGE

Where inconsistencies cease from troubling and logic is at rest

I say discuss all and expose all— I am for every topic openly

There can be no safety for these States . . . without free tongues, and ears willing to hear the tongues.

-Walt Whitman.

"To hell with reason! We split on reason!... The Nazi party must not become a bailiff of public opinion, but its ruler. It must not be the masses' slave, but their master." Adolph Hitler. Quoted by Eubank and Auer in "Discussion and Debate."

He draweth out the thread of his verbosity finer than the staple of his argument.—Much Ado About Nothing.

For favors done, the Editor of THE FORENSIC last spring promised to get Congressman Karl Mundt thre votes in his district in South Dakota when he came up for reelection this fall. He can now report that he has the promise of the three votes. He had a student in his classes this summer who is from Congressman Mundt's district. After she had listened to the Editor's arguments for three weeks, she-reported that she could promise the vote of herself, her husband, and a friend. These three votes represent a gain as the voters were not Republicans originally. Incidentally Representative Mundt was among the Republican leaders pictured in the August 22 issue of Collier's.

The change in the style and appearance of THE FORENSIC is made in the interests of economy. "C'est la guerre."

It is the desire of THE FORENSIC to have at least one news item from each chapter in each issue. Send your forensic news to Professor Clifton Cornwell, Kirksville, Missouri; or send your college paper to THE FORENSIC, Fort Collins, Colorado, as an exchange.

NO. 1

The Forensic Fraternity During the War

Until victory is ours, the first duty of the colleges is to train primarily for war. The Army and the Navy urge the continuance in college of the students who are pursuing an education. They are living on borrowed time until the nation needs their services.

"In war, as in peace, the ability to report facts and to express ideas clearly is an important attribute of the leader in every field of action. Teachers of English have a very real contribution to make in developing and encouraging this ability," wrote Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson in a letter to the College English Association.

"In the roster of distinguished names engraved on Navy scrolls of honor occur many of those who have shown themselves to have been masters of English as well as of seamanship. Contrary to a too prevalent conception, the two excellencies are not incompatible," Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox wrote to the same organization.

Pi Kappa Delta should scrutinize its own activities to see that they fit into our total war program. The armed forces are looking to the colleges for qualified officer material. Those in training to become officers usually have to take training in speech. Practically every airfield in the nation now offers courses in public speaking to its aviation instructors.

Intercollegiate forensics can and should help to prepare men for the fighting forces. Pi Kappa Delta is already engaged in that work.

It is with considerable pride that Pi Kappa Delta gives its national president to the air corps of the United States Army. We know that Glenn Capp was a splendid teacher and an able leader. We feel sure that Lieutenant Capp will make a fine soldier and an able officer. Our country will have a better army for the presence in it of Lieutenant Capp and men like him. As members of Pi Kappa Delta we can show our loyalty to both Lieutenant Capp and our nation by doing all within our power to keep the society at full power. Lieutenant Capp has mentioned his pride in being elected national president and his regret in having to relinquish that honor to serve his country. Pi Kappa Delta is near his heart. One of the best ways we can wish him success in the army is to assure him that we shall carry on his work while he is gone.

The Editorial Board of THE FORENSIC wishes to announce the following organization. Articles and features should be sent to Prof. Dana T. Burns, Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio. Chapter news should pass through the hands of Prof. Clifton Cornwell, Northeast Missouri State Teachers, Kirksville, Missouri. All FORENSIC copy, other than minutes, records, annual reports, and brief news items must be passed on by all three members of the board and approved by them. This means that articles should be submitted well in advance of the date of publication to give time for mailing the manuscript to the members of the board.

It is seldom that an organization loses its leader at a time when it has another man as able and as well trained to take his place. Prof. Martin Holcomb has served the society long and faithfully. He has already filled almost every office open to him other than the presidency. He knows the membership of the society and to an unusual degree enjoys the confidence and good will of coaches and students. He should make a splendid war time leader.

President Holcomb, we are yours to command in the service of our society, our colleges, and our country.

A little more responsibility, a little higher honor. From Councilman to the Vice Presidency. This is the recognition given Professor Edward Betz. We know that he will bring to his new office the same energy and ability which have characterized his work in other Pi Kappa Delta offices.

South Dakota State College

George McCarty says:

The Forensic Council of South Dakota State College plans a near business-as-usual calendar of events for 1942-43. The program will be somewhat less extensive because the colleges anticipate travel entirely by train or bus.

Definitely on the calendar are: (1) the annual State Inter-collegiate Forensic Association tournament, including contests in oratory and extempore speaking for both men and women; (2) the Pi Kappa Delta Province tournament which will include these events for both men and women plus debating for both groups.

Southwest Texas State Teachers College

Hugh F. Seabury says:

The forensic outlook for Texas Lambda Chapter at San Marcos State College, from the standpoint of intracollegiate participation, is excellent. Sixteen members of Pi Kappa Delta are back with us. During our college registration on September 15-16, seventy-three students indicated a desire to participate in debate, extempore, or oratory. Several others indicated a desire to participate in forensic activities not recognized as qualifying experiences for membership in Pi Kappa Delta. However, the present emergency will probably prevent our participation in intercollegiate forensic activities. We expect to develop a bigger and better campus program of forensics and wish the points earned in intracollegiate forensics could be applied on eligibility for membership in Pi Kappa Delta.

William Jewell College

Joe S. Amery, Jr. says:

Provided the navy and the army does not decide to take our boys before Christmas our outlook for the season is optimistic. We have the team returning which last year placed first in the men's national tournament, composed of Charles J. Smith, Du Quoin, Illinois, and Jum Jenkins of Maplewood, Missouri. One member of our number two team, Dick Heilbron of Maplewood, is also returning. We are fortunate in having Fred J. Zeni (a freshman) with us. Fred has been state champion in oratory and in extemp.

I am planning to hold my annual pre-season tournament again this year.

Maryville State Teachers College

John J. Rudin says:

We doubt that we can offer our high school discussion meeting this fall because of transportation difficulties, but we expect to have men's and women's debate teams and to make a number of short trips within the state. We are devoting more of our time this year to intramural speech and dramatics.

Louisiana College

E. O. Wood says:

Considerable interest is being shown, particularly among our women and first year men. The older men of our student group are giving much of their thought to activities more nearly related to the armed services. We are planning more intramural activities of a forensic sort than ever before. It is our hope that some forensic trips and tournaments may be possible. The new officers of the Louisiana Alpha Chapter are: president, Wilmer C. Fields; secretary-treasurer, Malcolm Tolbert; vice-president, John Green.

Eureka College

L. E. Norton says:

The outlook is rather dim. We had fourteen active members after initiation last spring.—Only five are back in school. Six underclassmen who did not return to school this fall are in the service now. We haven't issued the call for new workers yet, but I expect only a moderate amount of interest as the trend seems to be toward action rather than words this year. Also the science departments will keep the boys pretty well occupied, I am thinking.

Augustana College

Hugo A. Carlson says:

Augustana has just completed its registration, and contrary to the trend among colleges and universities, has recorded an all-time high both in new students and total enrollment. This fact omens the continuation of a speech and dramatics program, both curricular and extra curricular, comparable to other years. Our dramatics department will increase and extend its program.

We have graduated three outstanding speakers: Hazel Johnson, Avis Bekke, and Evelyn Driver. Their places will be assumed by excellent incoming women. We also lost one first-line speaker, Don Gross, to the Service during the summer. He was a debater and extemporaneous speaker at the National Tournament. His place will be filled from among a number of strong incoming and transfer students. On the whole, the outlook for Augustana is strong, in spite of graduation and military losses.

Oklahoma College for Women

Clarice Tatman says:

The forensic outlook for this year could hardly be worse from the viewpoint of Pi Kappa Delta, with its emphasis on interscholastic activities. Oklahoma Zeta will be inactive because Oklahoma College for Women will have no interscholastic forensic program this year. I plan to promote discussion on campus, particularly discussion of Peace Aims. I consider this important war work. But we probably will not have any formal contests, even intramural.

Southeastern State College

T. A. Houston says:

"My left wing is broken, my right bent back and my center shot to pieces. I am therefore ordering my reserves to advance along the whole line and hope that we may not be wholly annihilated." I have three members of the squad of last year left over but we are going to carry on. We hope to hold the Savage Forensic as usual the first Friday and Saturday in March.

University of California

Frank Wolf says:

We shall have our Number One team of last season, who are now of Junior standing, to rely on most heavily. The team, composed of Frank Wolf and Ed Sanders, were Pi Kap champions in 1942 and runners-up to a Non Pi Kap school in the '42 tournament at Stockton. In addition they have won the College of Pacific Invitational, the Redlands Invitational, were runners-up in the George Pepperdine tourney and placed third at the Western Asso. at Ogden last year.

Cape Girardeau State Teachers College

Arthur Dorlag says:

Dr. Rose is on indefinite leave of absence as a National Field Representative of the Office of Civilian Defense, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. His work is the organization of speakers bureaus in four of the nine corps areas: Region four, with headquarters in Atlanta; Seven, with headquarters in Omaha; Eight, with headquarters in San Antonio; and Nine, with headquarters in San Francisco.

We, therefore, must carry on somewhat as orphans; we've some enthusiastic prospects for a debate squad, including a large percent of last year's squad. I've been appointed student debate chairman. The president has approved our going ahead and promised a faculty sponsor appropriate to the debate question, if any is forthcoming.... And so we wait.

Oklahoma Central State College

Roy W. Jones says:

1. Central State College, Edmond, Oklahoma, plans to sponsor a practice debate tournament early in the season. Nominal entry fee for each school; any number of teams per school; judges provided from coaches and host faculty; and ratings of teams compiled, but no trophies to be awarded.

2. Travel prospects for the ensuing year are limited, of course, but we plan to do at least some going.

East Central Oklahoma State College

D. J. Nabors says:

We have only four debaters returning from our squad of last year, but have a prospective squad of about twenty. Of course no one knows how gasoline rationing will affect the program of tournament participation as yet, but our school expects to keep all activities in progress as much as possible. Our debate tournament has been set for December 4, 5. Last year we had eighty-five teams present. We are making plans to utilize the radio, organize public discussion groups, maintain a speakers bureau, and correlate our work with the war effort wherever possible.

Ft. Hays Kansas State College

J. R. Start says:

According to present plans we expect to carry on with our forensic program as far as this is possible. We don't expect to make any very long trips this year, but plan to attend debates, tournaments, and other forensic contests in our territory. The local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta plans to sponsor its annual high school debate tournament this fall if enough high schools carry on with their debate programs.

Kansas Southwestern College

Leroy Allen says:

Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, has out the largest forensic group in its history, some twenty-five being enrolled. The members meet as classes in two sections twice a week. This includes all who plan to compete in debate, oratory, extempore speaking, round table discussion, as well as a few who are meeting with the group for the sake of public speaking practice. The group is now getting into condition in knowledge and practice by giving extemporaneous speeches as public affairs preliminary to the receipt of the annual debate question. The intercollegiate program will probably be limited this year to colleges within a radius of one hundred miles. Walking farther than that would use up too much time and shoe-leather.

Carroll College

Vernon A. Utzinger says:

We will conduct our forensic program as usual with the exception of the long auto trips. We will take in more tournaments close to Waukesha, travel by train wherever possible. I start work on the question the first week in October with about eight experienced debaters. Around this group I expect to build a fairly good squad. Our budget has not been curtailed as yet, I hope it won't. I believe we must work harder than ever to train young men and women in the ability to think straight and express themselves forcefully. We need this kind of citizen to build a new and better world. Regardless of the adversities we must carry on if at all possible.

Hamline College

Charles Templer says:

At Hamline we expect to carry on with forensic activities, but not as usual. We have lost our older and more experienced debaters and orators either by graduation or to the military services. With gas rationing and limitations on travel a patriotic duty, if not a legal requirement, we expect to confine our activities to our own immediate neighborhood.

Simpson College

Elmerine Sherman says:

Forensic prospects here at Simpson this year are encouraging. Since there is an increased enrollment of freshman fellows as well as girls, we are looking forward to a promising freshman squad. A few upper-classmen, both men and women, have signed for intercollegiate service. We will probably just have the minimum number out for oratory and poetry reading, but I feel certain that we can do a little, at least, in that field. Trips, of course, are on the priorities list. We do expect to have the traditional Central-Simpson frays and an exchange with Penn. Since State is in Des Moines this year, in an extreme emergency we can walk that distance!

St. Vincent College

Patrick McKivigan says:

We are anticipating as full a forensic schedule at St. Vincent this year as our accelerated college program will permit.

Our senior class will graduate at the end of January and the junior class in August. This means that the freshmen will see more action this year than they have in the past. Up until now the gas situation has not affected us; but in the event that Western Pennsylvania is included in the gas rationing area, we still hope to continue forensic relations with the many schools in our district.

Kent State University

M. Scheffel Pierce says:

Last year Kent State inaugurated a new project for speakers that will be continued throughout the coming year. This project consisted of activities directed toward the sale of defense bonds and stamps. Our extension service—the Speakers' Bureau—will be continued this year with new emphasis to be placed upon messages directly concerned with the war and peace problems. Our intercollegiate programs have, of course, been seriously curtailed because of transportation priorities, however we still hope and expect to continue occasional public forums, discussions, and debates with neighboring colleges and universities. To replace the diminished intercollegiate program, intramural speech activities will be emphasized to a greater extent than in past years, with competition among the membership of our own speech organizations being our foremost aim, and a concurrent series of contests for other campus organizations being a possible secondary interest.

Doane College

Maurice C. Latta says:

Inter-collegiate debate at Doane College seems likely to be a war casualty what with students going to the army, the coach drafted to teach in the C.P.T. units, and tires going everyone knows where.

The Citadel

Cadet J. Coulson Phillips says:

We will have to cut down on debate and other forensic activities this year because we, like other citizens, wish to cooperate with our government in the gas and rubber saving. Due to our location it has always been necessary for us to travel quite a long distance to reach other colleges to debate. This, of course, has become impossible this year. However, we will have a debate team and also some work in oratory and are trying to work out some system whereby we can meet some other colleges in inter-collegiate activity. Several systems are being considered. Among these is having the team travel with the basketball team on the college bus when it makes a trip and debating then, or getting together a large number of colleges in one place and having a tournament. At this date, however, nothing definite has been formulated. The Citadel wishes to invite any other colleges that might be in this vicinity at any time to contact us so that a debate might be arranged.

Gustavus Adolphus College

Evan E. Anderson writes:

Dr. Walter A. Lunden, former Gustavus debater, and member of Pi Kappa Delta, has been elected president of Gustavus Adolphus College. Dr. Lunden, formerly of the University of Pittsburgh, is author of "The Dynamics of Higher Education" and other books in the field of sociology.

Tentative dates for the fourth annual non-decision debate tournament at Gustavus Adolphus College are December 4th and 5th. Last year twenty-three colleges from five states participated.

College of the Pacific

Prof. Edward S. Betz reports:

We have as much interest in forensics as ever. Although enrollment has dropped slightly, we shall have as large a budget as we had last year. We plan to participate in the Western Association Tournament, the Provincial, the Redlands Pacific Coast Championships, the Pacific Forensic League as well as to increase our Speakers Bureau activities. The women's team which competed at Minneapolis is back, but we must develop a men's team.

College of St. Thomas

Owen P. McElmeel writes:

Most of our experienced debaters and orators are back in school. We also have some promising men from the freshman squad. We have a schedule of about one hundred debates and a number of oratorical and extempore contests. We expect to hold the Northwest Debate Tournament again next spring. The dates scheduled are March 1, 2, and 3, 1943. Our debate squad will assist actively in the bond-selling, Red Cross, and similar campaigns. Speakers will be available for meetings in the Twin Cities and adjoining communities.

Dr. Herbert L. Curry, formerly debate coach at Yankton, South Dakota Gamma, and Colorado State, last year taught at Texas Tech. He has since resigned to go into defense work in Chicago.

FORMER PRESIDENT ROSE IN WAR ACTIVITIES

Field Representative of the Victory Speakers Bureau Section, Office of Civilian Defense, Washington, D. C., is the official title which should now be used in addressing former national president Forrest H. Rose. He is on leave from his duties at Southeast Missouri State Teachers College at Cape Girardeau.

"I am supposed to be the liaison man between Washington, and the Regional Headquarters of the 4, 7, 8, and 9 Defense Corps Areas with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia; Omaha, Nebraska; San Antonio, Texas, and San Francisco. I am supposed to assist in establishing local speakers bureaus in every county in every state. The local bureaus are supposed to place speakers, recruited from the county, before city and county organizations to plug for active participation in civilian defense activities."

Dr. Albert Keiser, debate coach at Lenoir-Rhyne, North Carolina Delta, was married June 6 to Miss Lena Virginia McGukin.

Dr. Sylvester R. Toussaint, Professor of Speech at Colorado State College of Education and former national president of Pi Kappa Delta, has recently been named acting director of the Graduate School.

Alfred Westfall, Editor of THE FORENSIC, spoke before the speech section of the N. E. A. at its meeting in Denver in June. "What Speech Students May Do To Win the War" was the subject of his address.

Ralph Coldwater, Montana State 1941, recently completed the graduate student course at Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, and has been assigned to the Switchgear Division. Mr. Coldwater was vice-president of Montana Beta.—Westinghouse Editorial Service.

Dr. Wilbur Moore, member of the National Council and Professor of Speech at Central State College of Education, Michigan Theta, tought at the University of Denver this summer. Dr. Moore visited the Editor of THE FORENSIC at Colorado State College, where he began his college teaching in 1927.

Kirksville Teachers, Missouri Theta, will begin its season with a novice tournament open only to those who have not participated in intercollegiate debate and who have not previously competed in the novice tournament. In December there will be a local tournament for the fifty dollar prize offered by the Board of Regents for the best team.

Book Reviews

Situational Speech. David Powers. New York. Pitman Publishing Corporation. 1941. Pp. 177.

This book is intended for the fundamentals course in speech. It is organized around the four skills involved in effective speech; the situation, semantic, vocal, and phonetic skills. This workbook organizes the assignments into projects. The sheets show the student how to collect information to prepare his speech, outline his talk, deliver it in class, review his results, and plan future remedial activity as he prepares to repeat the process.

It is recommendation enough for this book to note that it is already in its fifth edition.

Training the Speaking Voice. Virgil A. Anderson. New York. Oxford University Press. 1942. Pp. 387.

This is a new text on voice training, voice and diction, and speech fundamentals. It takes up the usual topics in voice training. Especially readable and practical are the chapters on "The Physics of Voice and Speech," and "Voice and Personality." It should win a place for itself in the voice field.

Reading Poems. Wright Thomas and Stuart Gerry Brown. New York. Oxford University Press. 1941. Pp. 781. $2.75.

A collection of poems arranged by types for those more interested in the intelligent reading of poetry than in a study of it in its historical aspects. It is a splendid collection. Any one who enjoys poetry finds it hard to lay down.

Selected Readings in Rhetoric and Public Speaking. Lester Thonssen. New York. The H. W. Wilson Company. 1942. Pp. 324. $3.00.

Dr. Thonssen has performed a very useful service in making conveniently available to the speech instructor and student these important selections from Plato through Genung. Many of the chapters and articles reprinted are not available outside of great libraries. The reader sees how speech history was made and where and when the steps in advance were taken. In what it retains this book indicates what has been reviewed and omitted.

This volume is especially interesting to members of Pi Kappa Delta. Dr. Thonssen was a member of the South Dakota Beta chapter at Huron. He graduated in 1926. He writes, "I should like to express to the readers of THE FORENSIC my very deep respect for the service which Pi Kappa Delta continues to render the field of public speaking. I shall always cherish the memory of the pleasant affiliation with the society during my four years as a college debater. I believe that Pi Kappa Delta furnished the necessary stimulus to sustain interest in a variety of speaking experiences. I am proud of my membership in the society."

Speech Preparation and Delivery. Lester Thonseen and Ross Scanlan. Philadelphia. J. B. Lippincott Company. 1942. Pp. 165. $2.50.

Effective speech composition and delivery briefly presented. A useful text for a brief course.

University Debaters' Annual, Edited by Edith M. Phelps. New York. The H. W. Wilson Company. 1942. Pp. 459. $2.25.

As one who has carefully examined each of the twenty-eight annual volumes which have preceded this one, I begin by saying that none of the series has seemed as timely and as closely connected with what America is doing, thinking, and saying as the present one. Miss Phelps is to be complimented on her splendid editorial work in getting together a collection of debates which not only reflect what our students did last year, but which also come to grips with the questions we as citizens are considering now. This year's student can begin the study of the national question on the federation of the democracies by studying the panel of five Pi Kappa Delta students on much the same question. There is also the Toronto-University of Iowa debate on the League of Nations. Among other topics adequately treated are: Federal incorporation of labor unions, military training, failure of the colleges to meet student needs, compulsory savings, a federal sales tax, post-war reconstruction, western hemisphere solidarity, and freedom of speech in time of a national emergency. All sections of the country are represented and many types of debates.

For any one wanting to know what our college students discussed last year and how they discussed it, this debaters' annual is a satisfying answer.
