

Frederick W. Colegrove - (1892-1895) was a Colgate University graduate and taught Latin there⁸. He was cited as an "intellectual man with worldwide interests. " The first gymnasium on campus was begun in 1895 due to his efforts. In 1895 enrolment was 401.⁵ More than 20 students were expelled after refusing to comply with Colegrove's request in regard to the time their class social was held. They were later reinstated.⁹