WASHINGTON AS A SPEAKER

Perhaps Washington would not have "made" Pi Kappa Delta, assuming the existence of a local chapter. We are told that "He was not a ready speaker and never swayed his audience by his oratory. Once when he was to make a speech before the Burgesses of Virginia he rose to his feet, stammered, hesitated, and was unable to utter a word. The speaker of the assembly paid him a most delicate compliment. 'Mr. Washington,' he said, 'sit down, your modesty equals your valor, and that is more eloquent than anything I or these other gentlemen can say'."

"True eloquence consists in saying all that is necessary and nothing but what is necessary."

—La Rochefoucauld.

OUR NATIONAL PRESIDENT

(In response to the Editor's request that our newly elected National President send such information about himself as he might consider advisable to print in the Forensic, we received the following modest statement which we use as submitted.)

H. DANA HOPKINS

"The brief scenario of myself that you ask for should probably intimate that I was born in Old Michigan; that I had my graduate and undergraduate work at its state university at Ann Arbor, under Professors Trueblood and O'Neill; that my first effort to drive away the shaggy wolf was in Eastern high school at Saginaw, Mich., in the department of speech; came to this childhood playground of presidents eight years ago, where Heidelberg College has put up with me as head of its department of speech since that time.

"In Ohio I am executive secretary of the Ohio Intercollegiate Debate Conference. In my private life I live quietly and at peace with my family—have three of the most wonderful children in Seneca county; eat and bat left handed—and have only one ambition—and that, to serve Pi Kappa Delta as she should be served during my two years of stewardship."

President Hopkins adds this further statement, which we include for the special honor of the new members of the National Council: "Whether the fraternity was wise in its selection of its president, I do know that it gave him a fine Council."

SOMETHING ABOUT THE CONVENTION IN FOUR CHAPTERS

Chap. I.—Contests and Contestants.

Chap. II.—Several Things and People.

Chap. III.—The Convention Banquet.

Chap. IV.—Pi Kappa Delta 1932-1934.

CHAPTER I CONTESTS AND CONTESTANTS

Even the most self-centered and conservative-in-praise mid-westerner, must admit that California did pretty well again. Marsh and Nichols have an almost uncanny way of repeating on victories. Of course their contestants did the winning. We are not forgetting that pictures and "biographies" of their contestants are given elsewhere in this issue.

* * * * *

We, doubtless, are wrong—again. Nevertheless we shamelessly insist that when contestants from any college consistently win, there is probably some credit due the "prof" in charge. Do we hear a "Hear! Hear!" from the wings?

* * * * *

If Redlands and U. C. L. A. keep up their winning records through a few more national tournaments, we will be convinced that orange blossoms, climate and publicity are not the only products of that glorious commonwealth.

* * * * *

But the Mid-West can't see its way clear to conceding everything to the West Coast, for there is Wichita U. That institution has the ability to repeat also. Remember? Veryl Pitts won first in men's oratory for that school in the Wichita meet two years ago. And now the university takes first again in men's oratory, second in women's oratory, third in women's extempore. Then, too, out of the Mid-West comes the women of Hastings, champions in debate; Gustavus, again (can you imagine Gustavus clear out of the running?); another Morning-side Hickman; William Jewell, always a contender to be reckon-
