

CHOIR WILL SING

O. U. Group Features Holy Week Union Service at First M. E. Church Tonight.

The third and last of Holy Week union evening services will be held at 7:30 tonight at First Methodist church, with the pastor, Rev. William I. Hastie presiding. A brief pre-Easter devotional message by Dr. W. A. Elliott will precede a 45-minute musical program by the Ottawa University choir of 30 voices, under direction of Prof. Edgar D. Kerr. The choir will sing Sir John Stainer's oratorio, "The Crucifixion." Lowell Orbison, senior student, will sing the tenor solos, and Prof. Kerr the baritone.

While the oratorio is one of the shorter musical works, it has in it some of the loveliest choruses and solos, notably the well known chorus, "God So Loved the World." It is especially appropriate to be sung during the Holy Week observance. Dr. Harry E. Cooper, head of the university department of music, will play the organ accompaniment.

Tomorrow evening each church will hold its own service, with the sacrament of the Lord's Supper planned for several of them. Friday afternoon, from 1 to 3 o'clock, the annual union observance of Good Friday is scheduled, in the auditorium of Federated church, with nine pastors sharing in the 2-hour service.

RATE TOPS ON GRADES

Pi Theta Chi Girls Lead In Semester Work at O. U.

Pi Theta Chi, girls' housing group at Ottawa University, advanced to first place in the grade ranking announced at the end of the first six weeks of the spring semester displacing Sigma Iota Psi which dropped to second place after holding the top position all year. The boys' groups held fairly well to the bottom of the ranking. Sigma Tau Delta pulled itself out of the cellar and gave that place to Alpha Phi Beta.

Miss Ruth Bundy, registrar, indicated in announcing the ratings that there were fewer low grades at this time than in the corresponding time in the first semester.

QUICK TO FEATURE CONCERT AT O. U.

K. C. CONCERT MASTER HERE
TUESDAY EVENING

O. U. Group Under Fetter Is Grooming To Make Its Best
Appearance in This Program

The Ottawa University orchestra concert next Tuesday evening at 8:15 in Ottawa University auditorium is attracting unusual interest this year due to the coming of Robert Quick, concert master of the Kansas City philharmonic orchestra and noted solo violinist. His playing on the program will add an additional touch of brilliance to the occasion already enhanced by a well balanced small orchestra under the able leadership of Prof. Everett Fetter.

Mr. Quick's record as a violinist is particularly brilliant for an artist as young as he is. As a graduate of the Bush conservatory in Chicago he won first prize in violin at that institution and a little later won the contest in violin sponsored by the American Society of Musicians. At the youthful age of 25 he was appointed concert master of the Seattle symphony orchestra. Last year he was invited to the concert master's chair of the Kansas City orchestra.

In Chicago, Seattle and in Kansas City he has attained wide public acclaim as a soloist. This year he has played several solo numbers with the philharmonic orchestra and has appeared in many solo performances at various towns in the middle west.

Mr. Fetter in commenting about the program said, "I believe that we are bringing to Ottawa one of the finest musicians in the middle west and I am sure that all Ottawans will be anxious to hear him play. Our own players are practicing every day in order to make a creditable performance on the program with Mr. Quick. We are hoping to please the audience with the numbers which we have selected and in the way in which we play them."

No admission is to be charged and no collection will be taken. The public is cordially invited to attend. The program:

O. U. Girls Will Revive An Old Fashion at Junior Play.

Ottawa University girls are going in for something new. In the junior play, "Streets of New York", the girls will demonstrate their ability to manage bustles just as well as did their great-grandmothers. The play is to be presented March 31 in Memorial auditorium.

The old-time villain will be revived and brought back to the stage, handle-bar mustache and all. Not only will there be one villain, there will be three. Gordon Fogdal, John Sheldon and Naydeen Bowlby will all be villains. With these three moving in and out of the play there is frequent opportunity for hissing and booing.

The "Little Nell" heroine part is to be played by Kathryn Profit and Earl Pennington is her hero. Of course, after a mighty struggle the hero saves the heroine and triumphs completely over the villains and almost everyone is happy.

Members of the audience may hiss and boo at any time they choose, but the management has requested that fresh vegetables and eggs be left at home. Reserved seat tickets are 35 cents each and may be purchased at Kaiser Drug store No. 1.

ONLY THREE LETTER MEN

Coach Godlove Must Build Track Team With New Men.

Coach Richard Godlove of Ottawa University is blue again. Only three letter men have answered his call for the track season which opens April 9 against William Jewell. With so little experienced material Godlove is faced with the necessity of developing new material for almost every event. The old men who are returning to the track are Asa Eagles, conference record holder in the javelin; Fred Koehler, high hurdles champion of the conference, and Edward Wiberg, high jumper and hurdler.

A large crew of new men is out for the practice sessions but Godlove has no idea what they can do as yet. The interclass team consists of: Bert Roberts, Garnett; Keith Smith, Garden City; Oliver Smith, Leavenworth; Leo Updike, Humboldt; John Socolofsky, Hamburg, Ia., a member of the squad last year; and Glendah Warren, Ottawa.

The home town fans who like their track will be well treated this spring as the schedule calls for five meets in Ottawa, including three duals, the Baker, C. of E. and O. U. triangular and the season-capping Kansas conference meet. The latter will be held on May 21.

There is a possibility that there will be one or two night track meets. Two of these held in the spring of 1934 proved popular with local fans.

The schedule:
Apr. 9—William Jewell at Ottawa
14—Haskell at Lawrence
17—Kansas Relays
23—Kansas Wesleyan at Salina
30—Baker-C. of E.-Ottawa triangular at Ottawa
May 7—C. of E. at Ottawa

PROGRAM AT

NOTED KANSAS CITY
CIAN HERE TONIGHT

Will Combine With College Orchestra in a Concert to Public Is Invited

The Ottawa University orchestra under direction of Prof. Everett Fetter will combine with Robert Quick, concert master of the Kansas City philharmonic orchestra and noted solo violinist to give Ottawa an evening of music tonight at 8:15 in university auditorium. No admission is to be charged and the public is invited.

Mr. Quick's playing will be a note of professional brilliance. The program already assumes success by the fine ability of the student orchestra which has been practising for many weeks. Three numbers which it will present tonight.

The orchestra will open the program with the playing of "Symphony in D Major." Since this number has an air, though very difficult, the French horns, it is usually called the "Horn" symphony. It has four movements.

After the Haydn symphony will be introduced "Romance" by Svendsen. The orchestra will return to overture to "The Bat" by a typical Strauss Viennese.

Mr. Quick's second appearance will be to play five selections of the works of various composers including three arrangements of Kreisler.

The orchestra will conclude the program with Ferde Grofe's "Mississippi Suite." This well claimed composition is a journey through Mississippi first of the four movements "Father of Waters" depicting majestic flowing of the river for a moment by the a jazz band coming from the steamer. The next movement is "Huckleberry Finn" light, carefree music in with the spirit of Mark Twain. The third is "Creole" which may be taken to the unhurried life of the south. "Mardi Gras," movement, depicts all name implies, a festival.

The orchestra tonight composed of the following:

Violins, Glen Betschart, V. Gar, Ethel May Schober, W. By, Mrs. Guy Snedaker, J. Adeline Shinn, Pallas Kristoff, Lucille Wright, Downing; violas, Byrning, Martha Alice Daniel, Junkmeyer and Rowena Buttle; flutes, Katherine Holroyd, Blunk and Dorothy Allen; French horns, Tad Hassall, and Grace Erion; trumpets, Huyck, William Kennedy, William Adamson; trombone, Noren; tympani, Rex Cowen; Loran Latimer; piano Eliezer.

Dr. Harry E. Cooper, company Mr. Quick in the orchestra.

The orchestra will accompany Mr. Quick on the Svendsen "Romance."

PROGRAM AT O. U.

NOTED KANSAS CITY MUSICIAN HERE TONIGHT

Will Combine With College Orchestra in a Concert to Which Public Is Invited

The Ottawa University orchestra under direction of Prof. Everett Petter will combine with Robert Quick, concert master of the Kansas City philharmonic orchestra and noted solo violinist, to give Ottawa an evening of good music tonight at 8:15 in the university auditorium. No admission is to be charged and the public is invited.

Mr. Quick's playing will add a note of professional brilliance to a program already assured of success by the fine ability of the student orchestra which has been practising for many weeks on the three numbers which it will present tonight.

The orchestra will open the program with the playing of Haydn's "Symphony in D. Major, No. 31." Since this number has an important, though very difficult part for the French horns, it is most generally called the "Hornsignal" symphony. It has four movements.

After the Haydn symphony Mr. Quick will be introduced to play "Romance" by Svendsen. The orchestra will return to play the overture to "The Bat" by Strauss, a typical Strauss Viennese waltz.

Mr. Quick's second appearance will be to play five selections from the works of various composers including three arrangements by Kreisler.

The orchestra will conclude the program with Ferde Grofe's "Mississippi Suite." This widely acclaimed composition portrays a journey through Mississippi. The first of the four movements, "Father of Waters" depicts the majestic flowing of the river broken for a moment by the music of a jazz band coming from a passing steamer. The next movement is "Huckleberry Finn" and is light, carefree music in keeping with the spirit of Mark Twain's hero. The third is "Creole Days" which may be taken to represent the unhurried life of the deep south. "Mardi Gras," the last movement, depicts all that the name implies, a festival occasion.

The orchestra tonight will be composed of the following:

Violins, Glen Betschart, Wilma Apgar, Ethel May Schober, Wilma Happy, Mrs. Guy Snedaker, Jane Geiger, Adeline Shinn, Pallas Krist, Esther Moffatt, Lucille Wright and Naomi Downing; violas, Byrmina Brooks, Martha Alice Daniel, Junior Tegtmeyer and Rowena Butler. Cellos, Malcolm Scott, Margaret Shively and William Bowers; bass, Oscar Butler; flutes, Katherine Holroyd, Margaret Blunk and Dorothy Allen; clarinets, Keith Smith and Wallace Hutchins; French horns, Tad Hascall, Jo Davis and Grace Erion; trumpets, Kenneth Huyck, William Kennedy and William Adamson; trombone, Loren Noren; tympani, Rex Cowan; harp, Loren Latimer; piano Eileen Wilson.

Dr. Harry E. Cooper will accompany Mr. Quick in his numbers.

The orchestra will accompany Mr. Quick on the Svendsen selection.

Villains abound in "Streets of New York", a comedy to be presented by the Ottawa University junior class tomorrow evening in Memorial Auditorium. In the scene shown above they even listen in on the proposal of the hero, Edward Pennington, to the heroine, Kathryn Proffitt. Left to right: Naydeen Bowlby, a persnickity villainess; Mr.

Pennington, the hero; Gordon Fogdall, villain number two; Miss Proffitt, the sweet heroine; and John Sheldon, villain number three and said to be the lowest of the lot. The insets show closeups of Miss Proffitt and Mr. Fogdall. Hissing and booing will be allowed but the management has requested the audience to refrain from throwing vegetables and eggs at the villains.

NEW MAT TITLIST

Intramural Wrestling Tournay Over at O. U.

The intramural wrestling season at Ottawa University is completed and a whole set of new champions has been proclaimed. In the 125-pound class David Laury defeated Alford Banta by a decision to win the championship of that weight. At 135 pounds Wallace Woods won a decision over Richard Reese. In the 145-pound class Fred Koehler won over hard battling John Socolofsky. At 155 pounds Paul Whitaker won over Ricks Matson in a close match. In the 165-pound group Adrian Miller gained a decision over Oliver Smith. The only victory via the fall route came when Roy Fitzpatrick threw Gordon Daugharthy for the 175-pound championship. In the heavyweight division Bob Harrop gained a decision over Leonard Hofstra.

The intramural sports program now goes into track, baseball and tennis.

CROWN SEVEN NEW CHAMPS

Honors Won at Ottawa Intramural Mat Tournament.

Ottawa, Kan., March 31.—(Special)—Seven new champions were crowned this week in the annual Ottawa university intramural tournament. Bob Harrop, Berryton, all-Kansas conference football tackle, defeated Leonard Hofstra, Leavenworth, to take the heavyweight title. Neither man could gain a fall, but Harrop was awarded the decision.

In the 175-pound class, Roy Fitzpatrick, Ottawa, threw Gordon Daugherty, Ottawa, in the finals to win that title. Adrian Miller, Belpre, won the 165-pound title by defeating Oliver Smith, Leavenworth, in a decision match. In the 155-pound division, Paul Whiteker, Wichita, defeated Ricks Madston, Ottawa, by decision. Fred Koehler, Oberlin, defeated John Socolofsky, Hamburg, Ia., to win the 145-pound title. Wallace Woods, Ottawa, defeated Richard Reese, Ottawa, in the finals of the 135-pound class. The 125-pound title was won by David Laury, Chicago, who defeated Alford Banta, Oberlin, in the finals.

PROGRAM A HIT

ROBERT QUICK, VIOLINIST, A BIG FEATURE

Every Seat in College Chapel Was Filled Last Night for One of Best Concerts Given Here

The Ottawa University orchestra, under the direction of Prof.

Everett Fetter gave a brilliant and colorful performance last evening in the university auditorium. Robert Quick, solo violinist from Kansas City, in two appearances on the program added professional artistry to the occasion. Every seat in the chapel was filled when Mr. Fetter stepped to the conductor's platform to lead the orchestra in the opening number. Throughout the program, the audience, largest music attendance of the year, expressed its appreciation by close attention and hearty applause.

The difficult Haydn's Hornsignal symphony, which is usually regarded as beyond the scope of student organizations, was played by the orchestra with a precision of technique, and a fine attention to the musical features of phrasing and dynamics that were most commendable.

Mr. Quick lived up to his reputation as a concert violinist in every sense of the word. He has a beautiful large tone and a technique of virtuoso caliber. These qualities coupled with musicianship of the highest order place Mr. Quick in the front rank of the violinists that America has produced. His reception by the audience was most enthusiastic and as an encore he played Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song". The violin he played was a rare Lupot made in 1798 and valued at $3,000. Dr. Harry E. Cooper played excellent accompaniments for Mr. Quick, who after the concert expressed appreciation for the fine ability shown.

The Strauss overture and the "Mississippi Suite" of Ferde Grofe were given by the orchestra with a verve that showed the fine enthusiasm of the young players as well as the able technique of Mr. Fetter. The latter is characteristic American music and made a brilliant close to the program.

Dr. Cooper, head of the music department, said in commenting about the occasion, "It is worthy of mention that such a program as Mr. Fetter presented and the bringing of the distinguished soloist not only afford an opportunity to the people of Ottawa to hear the best in music but give training of inestimable value to the students who participate." The next of the university concerts will be that of the choir under direction of Prof. Edgar Kerr on April 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Long of Kansas City came to Ottawa with Mr. Quick. Mr. Long is a violist and librarian of the Kansas City philharmonic orchestra. Mrs. Long is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Tucker, 1147 South Hickory.

Old Time Play by O. U. Juniors
Had Unpopular Villains and Popular Heroes.

Amid boos, hisses, cheers and showers of fresh fruit the Ottawa University junior class last night presented "Streets of New York" in Memorial auditorium before a large audience. The audience liked the play and joined in the booing and hissing which originated mainly from the student reserved sections on the left and right sides of the house. Occasionally an irate fan in the center section let out a lusty boo as the ace villain, Gideon Bloodgood, played by John Sheldon, came onto the stage. His companion was Badger, played by Gordon Fogdall. Offhand a spectator would have difficulty in saying which was the lower, but Badger reformed long before the end of the play and softened the hearts of the audience. Hisses and boos kept up for Bloodgood until the final scene when he was cornered and almost forced to reform.

There were cheers for the heroine and hero, Kathryn Proffitt and Earl Pennington, every time they entered. But for Alida, Bloodgood's daughter, played by Naydeen Bowlby, there was nothing but boos. Carl Livingston as Edwards, assistant to Bloodgood, also brought down a few healthy hisses. Joe Lynch, as the old sea captain, won the sympathy of the audience but died early in the play. Paul Fairweather, Richard Reese, and Mrs. Fairweather, Edith Clemmons, almost brought the audience to tears. A good many laughs were furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Puffy, played by Kenneth Huyck and Dorothy Mae Bower. Martha Bernhart as Dan and Harold Pitts as a policeman added to the merriment.

A high point in the evening came at an unexpected and unplanned place in the performance.
In the midst of a dramatic scene when three people were at the point of death someone threw a large grapefruit from the audience and it landed with a dull thud near the head of Gordon Fogdall. Needless to say he came to life while the audience roared.
There were several good specialties between acts, and Prof.
Everett Fetter's orchestra played.
The members of the cast presented Prof. Evan A. Reiff, the director, an end table in appreciation of his services.

Ottawa University's faculty and students are furnishing a large share of the program for the annual meeting of the Kansas River association of Baptist young people, at Burlingame, April 3 and 4.
Rev. C. E. Kingsley, pastor of the Burlingame Baptist church and a student at the university, is the advisor for the association and will deliver the annual address Sunday morning. He will speak on "A Great Storm and A Peaceful Calm." Rev. Kingsley will also conduct the installation of officers Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Andrew B. Martin, president of the university, will close the meeting Sunday afternoon with an address, "Weighing Anchor." Miss Minnie Maude Macaulay, dean of women, will conduct a recreational hour for the whole group Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock.

Other students taking part in the program are Charlene Cheney and William Christie, who will lead devotional conferences Saturday afternoon, and Melvin Errickson, who will lead the song services.

The university choir, under direction of Prof. Edgar Kerr, will sing several numbers at the Sunday morning services.

tonight and tomorrow will attract over 100 girls from nearby high schools. The girls will be registered as soon as they arrive and will participate in an extensive program this evening. They will be guests of various university houses tonight. The North American hotel is donating several rooms for the use of the play day guests.

GRASSING O. U. GRIDIRON

Student Labor Being Used To Sow
Bermuda and Blue Grass.

Bermuda and blue grass will be planted on the Ottawa University football field this spring with the hopes that not only the beauty of the field will be enhanced but it will be a somewhat softer place for gridiron warriors to fall.

Student workmen are busy leveling the field. Several low places are being filled in with dirt hailed from other parts of the campus. Coach Dick Godlove said that plans are being made to lay water pipes to the field in order that the grass may be properly cared for this summer.

Grass on the field has not been in good condition for the past few years and the ground has been particularly hard. If present plans work out, the university will have as fine a gridiron as any small college in the state.
