Mail election is here again. During the next few days every alumnus will receive his ballot which he is to use and return at once for the counting. It is expected that more than half of the old grads—and the young ones, too—will avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded to vote.

Running for president will be Ethiel Morris Haley, '27, who is serving in that capacity now, and Rev. Lloyd Griffeth, '23, pastor of First Baptist church in Chanute. Both are loyal Ottawans, always ready to do more than a full share for the Alma Mater.

The rest of the ticket is also made up of excellent Ottawans. Space does not permit full descriptions here except for these few words: George Lister, a son of the well known Ottawa family, is an employee of the Lamb Funeral home here. Kathryn Proffitt Lynch is a housewife in Topeka and active in the Topeka chapter. Eleanor Vincent Elling is a housewife in Ottawa. Gertrude Jewell is a loyal Ottawan in Mt. Hope,

Kansas. Hercule Morris is an attorney in Wichita. Louise Smith Voth is a housewife, secretary of the Topeka chapter. Lowell Bailey is a high school instructor in Lawrence. S. Robert McCrea is in the lumber business in Ottawa, has served as association president. Lorena Cassidy is a teacher in Wichita, also active in the Wichita chapter. Sam Marsh recently moved to Kansas City from Chicago, and was elected president of the K. C. chapter last month.

Ballots will contain full, but simple directions. Alumni never have any trouble except with the directors of Group II. Two are to be checked in this group, but only one in the others.

The officers are elected in a manner described by the constitution adopted several years. The candidates are selected by a nominating committee named by the president.
