

---

Deaths

---

Death of Dr. H. H. Foster

Dr. H. H. Foster, widely known educator, died December 1, 1942, at his home in Beloit, Wisconsin, at the age of 67. He was head of the Education Department of

O. U. from 1907 to 1915. During the next eight years, he was professor of Education at several state universities, and in 1923 he became head of the Education Department at Beloit college where he remained until his death. He had published a number of books on various phases of education work, and had been nationally prominent in that field of work.