HALFWAY POINT IN O. U. TICKET SALE

MORE HARD WORK AHEAD TO REACH 500 GOAL

Teams Were Bearing Down Today; Reserve Seats to Be Wider; Squad Looking Good

Estimates based on early returns from the Ottawa University football season ticket sale indicated the 500-ticket goal had been approximately half reached. Chairman Ralph S. Hanes said this morning that it will take much hard work to reach the goal, but he believes the 20 teams are intending to bear down today and boost the total well toward the number sought for.

The university announced reserve seats will be one-third wider than they were last year. That should give even fat men plenty of room to sit comfortably. The reserve section will be in the exact center of the stands on the west side.

Confidence that the team will be stronger than it was last year has already been expressed by Coach Richard Godlove. Fans who have seen the team work out feel he is justified in his belief. There are more speed and more weight in the backfield for one thing. And the line, which was more than fair last season, is more experienced now and should show up brilliantly. Led by Co-Captains Bob Harrop and Gordon Daugharthy the line should be especially powerful on defense and develop into an offensive wall of excellent merit.

The first game is to be played with the colorful Haskell Indians on Cook field here the night of Sept. 24. Reports from Lawrence indicate the early Americans have a stronger squad than they had last season. If possible the Indians will entertain with war dances during half-time intermission at the game.

Those who have not been called on may secure season tickets by calling at any drug store.

431 BUY TICKETS TO O. U. GAMES

SHORT OF GOAL, BUT RATE IS ALLOWED

Reservations Open Monday; Special Rates for Children and High Students

The Ottawa University season football ticket sales mounted to 431 at the close of the campaign yesterday. While this is short of the 500 mark set by the university, Coach Richard Godlove said the number would be acceptable to the school. Ralph Hanes, the chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the drive, believes that enough additional tickets will be sold to bring the total very close to the 500 mark.

Season ticket purchasers may make reservations at the Davis-Wassmer clothing store Monday morning starting at 8 o'clock. Choice seats will go to early arrivals, said university officials, although most seats in the reserve section will be good points from which to watch a game.

Children may not sit in the reserve seats unless they have reservations. A special section will be provided them to which they will be admitted for 10 cents. There will also be a special section for high school students to which admission will be 25 cents, providing tickets are purchased at the high school.

The opening game will be with Haskell Institute to be played here next Friday night. All home games will start at 7:45 p. m.

GODLOVE FIGURES ON HIS STARTERS

HAS A FAIR IDEA OF FRIDAY NIGHT'S TEAM.

Real Fireworks, As Well As Those in Game, a Feature in Haskell Contest.

The Ottawa University Braves, preparing for their game here with Haskell Indians Friday evening, got down to the real business of finding a starting lineup yesterday in scrimmage. The problem is by no means settled, but Mentor Dick Godlove has a fair idea as to whom the boys answering the first whistle will be.

Apparently George Von Arb and Eugene Harding will be the ends. Both are experienced, alert and have plenty of the stuff which is needed for good football players. The tackles will probably be two veterans, Bob Harrop and Harold Pitts. Both of these men have had three years' experience and they are big and capable enough to take care of their business and tackles, in case you do not know, are considered mighty busy and important men on any football team.

The guard situation is like a musical chair game with five boys switching back and forth as Godlove tries to find a pair who

Out of that group, it is figured, will come the starting eleven. Godlove will undoubtedly use, however, no less than 25 men against the Indians Friday night.

Kansas State vs. Boston at Boston.

The football season got into its full stride today, with several games being played of big national and sectional interest. One of the big games for this section was the Minnesota-Nebraska contest at Lincoln. Football fans were glued to radios this afternoon listening to broadcasts of their favorite games.

The K. U. victory over Washburn last night raised the stock of Kansas. Although it was not a Big Six game, many followers of the Jayhawk saw signs of the start of a rejuvenation of the long dropping football stock at the state university.

Locally, hopes were high that Ottawa University would have a good season in the Kansas conference. The Baptist Braves easily trounced Haskell last week, but the team's first taste of conference play will be had here next Friday night when McPherson meets O. U.

Ottawa high school started out glumly, taking a defeat at the hands of Rosedale last week, but was hoping for a victory tonight over Washington rural high at Bethel, Kas.

O. U. BAND OUT IN NEW DRESS

APPEARS TOMORROW NIGHT IN FOOTBALL RALLIES

Students Will Whoop It Up Down Town, and Later Have Bonfire Session on Campus

Tomorrow evening Ottawa University students will blow the lid off in preparations for the opening football game with Haskell Institute by staging a series of rallies to let the whole town know that their football team is set to "do or die" when it takes the field Friday night against the Indians.

At 7:15 the entire student body and the team will be guests at the Plaza theatre. At 9 o'clock the players will be introduced on the stage by Coach Richard Godlove assisted by Melvin Miller, theatre manager. Immediately after the show the students will parade to the campus where they will have a big bonfire and a final pep rally.

The university band will be second only to the football team Friday evening. Gaily bedecked in new uniforms the band will march and play as often as possible. Prof. Everett Fetter is well pleased over the early practice sessions of the band and believes it will make a creditable appearance even though this is the first week of practice. "We will be a bit rough in spots, but in a few weeks we should have a fair band," said Mr. Fetter.

Rex Cowan, tall leader in musical activities in Ottawa, will be the drum major. There probably will be no leader in any student band in the state who can strut any better than Rex. He and the band are expected to make a favorable impression.

SNAPPY UNIFORMS FOR O. U. BAND

MUSICIAN'S OUTFITS IN YELLOW, BLACK, WHITE

Drum Major Will Wear A Plumed Headgear— Twenty-Five New Suits Have Been Ordered

Horn tooting in the Ottawa University student band will be something classical this fall, for the organization will be outfitted in brand new uniforms which will be designed to add a real touch of collegiate snap to the group which has been struggling along without any sort of uniforms for several years. President Andrew B. Martin placed the order for the suits yesterday and hopes they will be ready for the opening game of the football season with Haskell here on September 24.

The new outfits will feature the school colors, yellow and black, with white added for a bit of additional color. The coats will be black wool whipcord with yellow shoulder loops and pocket flaps. A yellow silk citation cord will adorn the left shoulder. They will be worn with white Sam Brown belts.

The caps will have white tops with black edging and buttons and black bands trimmed in yellow. Gilt lyres will adorn the front of the headgear.

Trousers will be made of white gaberdine and will probably have a black stripe down the side of the legs.

The drum major, and Rex Cowan, a local boy, will get the assignment, will be outfitted in a uniform which will befit the position of the fellow who marches at the head of the band. He will wear a tall white shako which will be trimmed in yellow and black and topped by a feather fountain plume. His coat will be white with a yellow Sam Browne belt.

Prof. Everett Fetter will train the band with the assistance of the student director, Oscar Butler of Ottawa. Mr. Fetter said that it will take some time to train the band as several new players must be taken into the group this year, but he hopes the organization will be ready by the time the uniforms are delivered. Twenty-five outfits were ordered.
