

Pres. Martin Believes Problem Should Be Dealt With

Last Friday a Campus reporter interviewed Dr. Andrew B. Martin concerning the barber shop problem. The text of the interview follows:

Question: Do you believe that the ethical problem of discrimination toward some members of the campus community is one that should be dealt with?

Dr. Martin: Yes.

Q: Do you approve of the methods used in attempting to have a discussion with the barbers?

Dr. M.: Yes, up to this point. Any time you are willing to sit down and talk things over, this is in order.

Q.: Do you believe that all business establishments in Ottawa should serve people without regard to race or color?

Dr. M.: Certainly.

Q: Will you give a personal endorsement to efforts intelligently and orderly to obtain equality of opportunity for all students?

Dr. M.: Yes. However, we must recognize the difficulty of a man who is in business and is honestly afraid of losing business. This thing must not be forced, but must come slowly.
