Association at the week-end business meeting.

In spite of the severe gas shortage in Norfolk, our annual tournament brought over 150 students from 27 universities in 13 states to our campus. Six new students were initiated into Pi Kappa Delta this spring.

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY Reporter: Shelly Morrison

has been a year of building membership for Idaho Gamma Chapter. The school year began with just three members; by the time of the Province meeting in Burley at the end of March. membership had more than tripled. Formal initiation for seven members was held at the home of Max Parrish, Pocatello attorney and alumnus of Pi Kappa Delta. The initiates are: Kelly McCune, Mountain Home, Id., junior; Larry Lineberry, Blackfoot, Id., freshman; Robert A. Ringdahl, Milner, N.D., freshman: Susan Price and Celeste Condit, freshmen; Mike Eastvold and John Ingelstrom, sophomores, all of Pocatello.

The initiation was arranged by chapter officers Michele (Shelly) Morrison, president, and Martha Phelps, vice president. Assisting were William Corbin, director of forensics and chapter sponsor, and Mark E. Kelley, Holcomb, N.Y., graduate assistant in speech. The remaining officer not directly involved in planning initiation is Keith Coombs of Grace, Id., who is the pledge trainer.

The chapter undertook a fund-raising project that proved to be fun for everyone. For a one-week period members operated the popcorn machine at the Student Union movie on the ISU campus, raising a total of $20. When we aren't busy with debate tournaments, our members enjoy getting together for parties, ranging from Christmas and Easter get-togethers to a spaghetti dinner. A banquet to announce new officers closes out the current year.

All of the PKD members contributed to the Sweepstakes trophy won by ISU at the state tournament in Boise.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN COLLEGE Reporter: Robert H. Lyon The Tenth Annyal WyMonDak Speech Tournament was held March 1 and 2 with approximately 75 students from a fivestate area entered. For the second consecutive year, duo interpretation held unusual interest. Two students have 10 minutes to perform what is usually done in eight minutes by one student; there are greater variations with two voices and two imaginations working together, for they can read alternate selections, alternate voices, etc., with multiple variations possible. This event helps to bring to life designed for two literature WyMonDak was also the first contest in discussion for most of the students since this event is seldom scheduled in the upper Rocky Mountain area.

CARROLL COLLEGE Reporter: Dan Flanagan

Montana Delta believes very strongly in the symbolism of the ring in the PKD key, "The ring is the symbol of unity, the bond of brotherhood. It represents friendship, a tie that gives us the strength to accomplish what none can do alone." To develop this friendship we have little parties for members throughout the year. Christmas, Valentine, and parties for no special occasion give the chance to know each other better and provide the opportunities for this friendship to grow. Other activities include a recruiting program for new members, a Pi Kappa Delta Day, and speaking activities before off-campus groups.

Members feel that we must have good communication and relations with the community at large. Plans are being made to urge community groups such as Jaycees, Knights of Columbus, Chamber of Commerce, Masons, Elks, and others to invite chapter members to speak at their meetings.

To keep alive the history of the chapter, a scrapbook is being compiled. It will hold copies of orations and oral interpretations of the members, records of tournaments attended, and pictures.

UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA Reporter: Amanda Rosenberg

New tournaments, new activities, new directors and new members have updated the Montana Zeta Chapter. Buford A. Crites has been named director of forensics and coaches the University of Montana Debate and Oratory Association. Buford, a two-time NDT qualifier, received his B.S. Ed. at Southwest Missouri, his M.S. at Illinois State and is currently finishing his doctoral work from the University of Utah. Dr. Wesley Shellen, director of Communication Activities, has authored a book, Alternative Debate Strategies, which is being published by the Alberta Debate and Speech Association.

Pi Kap members have added to their chapter the following students: Chris Tweeten, Carl Rostad, Jim Leik, and Amanda Rosenberg. Amanda and Dave Fjosse have been elected officers of the

Tournaments attended have included: Gonzaga, University of Utah, Western Speech Communication Forensic Tournament at Albuquerque, and all the Montana tournaments including the Montana State Tourney. U of M won second Sweepstakes honors at State with Bill Anderson and Larry Cruse winning third in junior debate, and Chris Tweeten and Dave Fiosse captured second place in senior debate. Amanda Rosenberg won second place in oratory and qualified for the National Oratory Contest in Pueblo, Colo. The Montana Broadcaster's Cup, awarded for oratory, was presented to the U of M. This will be the second consecutive year in which the University of Montana will co-represent Montana at nationals.

The debate team of Tweeten and Fjosse was accepted for the District II NDT qualifier in March.

In addition to an active schedule of competition, the U of M squad cosponsored Merrill K. Riddick on campus, the U.S. Presidential candidate on the Puritan Ethic and Prohibition ticket, Mr. Riddick has researched new energy sources including MHD. A memorial oratory contest and an intramural forensics tournament highlighted the campus activities.

Representatives from the squad participate in the weekly radio talk show,

"Open Line" on KGMY. Each week a topic of their choosing is presented and discussed; some of the topics have included the energy crisis, the Equal Rights Amendment, gambling and gun control legislation. This has been an enjoyable and enlightening experience.

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE Reporter: Sharon L. Bragin

Despite the energy crisis and a car which gets only 16.2 miles to the gallon, the squad maintained good spirits during the debate season. Accomplishments during the year included participation in tournaments at the University of Massachusetts, the SCSC Invitational Tournament, and organization and broadcast of a New England televised debate on the "Energy Crisis" which proved to be an extremely interesting experience for participants and viewers.

The televised debate was on the topic: "Resolved, That the State of Maine adopt a Self-Sufficient Energy Policy." Participants in the debate included two novice debate teams from the University of Maine (one affirmative and one negative), John Cole (editor of The Maine Times) speaking for self-sufficiency, and Andrews Nixon (President of the Dead River Oil Company) speaking against the proposal. The debate was aired on educational television on March 13 and again on March 14.

The year was concluded with participation in the PKD Province of the Northeast Tournament.

TOWSON STATE COLLEGE Reporter: Dorothy Klein

The Maryland Alpha Chapter wrapped up its 1973 year with the H.L. Mencken Memorial Tournament. Hosted by Towson's Forensic Union and sponsored by the Baltimore Sunpapers, the tournament involved 20 colleges from the Eastern States.

The Forensic Union began its 1974 season with nine students traveling to two tournaments. Michael Silvert won a fifth place trophy in impromptu speaking and David DeBoy placed third in informative at Monmouth College. Janet Bury, one of Towson's former top national speakers, judged for the Towson team. That same week-end Garry Bolan and six other debaters went to Bloomsburg College; Bolan was ranked as second place varsity speaker. Also competing were Diane Ochs, Andy Urban, Robyn Seymour. Howard Sirkis, and Mark Coulthad. A 7-5 record was compiled during the tournament. The teams of Bolan-Ochs, Sirkis-Urban, Nicholas-Klein and Tostanoski-Seymour traveled to Clarion State College.

Towson State Forensic Union took fourth place sweepstakes at Old Dominion University, with the eight-student delegation walking away with additional honors.

Junior varsity team Andy Urban and Diane Ochs advanced to semifinals against the College of William and Mary, receiving the third-place trophy. A second junior varsity team of Coke Hagapanos and Robyn Seymour had a 4-2 record. In individual events Michael Silvert won the second-place trophy in impromptu speaking.

The Creative Interpreters Guild, dedicated to the learning and sharing of oral interpretation, reader's theatre, and chamber theatre, is active in campus programs and community activities. This year marked the seventh celebration of "New Horizons," a non-competitive invitational festival sponsored by the C.I.G. Performers from Central Michigan. Clarion, Kutztown, Plattsburgh, and Monmouth Colleges joined Maryland Colleges' local interpreters. This year's guest critics were Dr. Kenneth Crannell and Dr. Frances McCurdy. Towson's inperformed terpreters "Marriage Miscellany," a compiled script by Marlene Stone, director of the Guild. The script was taken from "The Ten Worst Things About a Man" by lean Kerr, "Ouestions, Questions," by Parke Cummings, and poems by Judith Viorst.

On March 29-30 the C.I.G. was represented at the Emerson Festival by Richard Messick, Marian Anderson and Sandy Meyers, who presented a selection from Theophilus North by Thornton Wilder, adapted and directed by Mr. Alan Wade; and by Kris Abell, Sharon Wiehl and Debbie Carson who presented individual readings.

An Evening of Brecht, April 4, a one-woman presentation of the life and works, featured Cevia Snyder. A scholarly, yet entertaining approach to a single author, the multi-media presentation was preceded by a Readers' Theatre production of Brecht's vignette The Informer from The Private Life of the Master Race.

The fourth presentation in the C.I.G.'s interlude series, Senior Reading Night, spotlighted the graduating seniors with their farewell readings. This series has also presented a Faculty Reading Night and other performances. Several student Independent Study projects in oral interpretation and readers' theatre were also scheduled.

The C.I.G. has been requested to participate in a junior high school workshop to acquaint students with the art of oral reading. Members are often asked to perform at area high schools, and, as a result, oral interpretation has found its way into the curriculum of many speech, drama and English teachers.

In the spirit of community activity, the C.I.G. presented a program at homes for the aged last December, with other performances scheduled during the Spring. These eager audiences appreciated and enjoy these performances as much as those performing. Community activities aid in maintaining a good community image.

CALIFORNIA STATE COLLEGE (PENNSYLVANIA) Reporter: Betty Lauricia

With seven states represented and 80 students competing, the California State College's Forensic Union Rare Bird Tournament was off to a soaring flight. On the week-end of Feb. 15 and 16, 13 schools competed for awards: Bergen Community College, New Jersey; Bowling Green State University, Ohio; Indiana State University; Parkersburg Community College, West Virginia; University of Maryland; Youngstown State University; Ohio University; Frostburg State College; Duquesne University, Behrend College, Geneva College and Thiel College.

Top winners were Ohio University with 12 awards followed by Parkersburg Community College — 8 awards, Youngstown State University — 8 awards, Bowling Green State University — 5 awards, and Cal State — 4 awards.

Cal State students also receiving awards were: Joyce Herod, Thresa Musillo, Kay Johnson. Other competitors from Cal State were: Betty Hill, Sally Finley, Monica Valusek and Betty Lauricia.

Awards were presented by Patrick Miller, director of forensics and tournament director, Dr. Roadman, college president, and Betty Lauricia, forensic union president.

The Speech Communication Department staff of Robert Cowles, chairman, Dr. Corrine Flemming, Marcella Blout, Richard

May, Dr. John Robson, and Dr. Carl Wilson, served as judges and aided in the operation of the tournament.

The next Rare Bird Tournament will be held during the third week-end in February, 1975.

WEST CHESTER STATE COLLEGE Reporter: A.G. Kershner, Jr.

Anticipating the need for more time, energy, and effort to prepare for hosting the Convention-Tournament of the Province of the Northeast later this spring, the members of the Pennsylvania lota Chapter held their annual dinner and initiation ceremonies earlier than usual. The affair at the home of Mrs. Carolyn Keefe, director of forensics, included the dinner and the induction of eight members into the Order of Competitive Individual Speaking, Initiated were: Timothy Anderon (York), Karen Grim (Philadelphia), Charles Kreitzer (Wormleysville), Judith Macatee (Philadelphia), Giselle Quigley (Media), Theresa Smith (Pittsburgh), Loretta Tiers (Pittsburgh), and Patricia Whitman (Springfield).

Within the Order of Competitive Individual Speaking, students advancing in rank included: Paula Bisciotti (Havertown) to Proficiency, President Sharyn Graver (Perkasie) to Highest Distinction, Deborah Hicks (Philadelphia) to Honor, Deborah Hoffer (West Middlesex) to Special Distinction, Linda Karter (Rutledge) to Proficiency, Karen Kinard (Lester) to Honor, Eileen Quirk (Collingdale) to Proficiency, Bonita Witmer (Lykens) to Honor, and Susan Zaleski (Boothwyn) to Proficiency.

Officers for the 1974-75 academic year were elected at the annual business meeting: Karen Kinard, president; Giselle Quigley, vice president; Patricia Whitman, recording secretary-treasurer; and Terry Smith, corresponding secretary-historian.

Guests attending included Saundra M. Hall, coach of interpretative reading, and

A.G. Kershner, chapter sponsor.

THIEL COLLEGE Reporter: Mark A. Gardner

Pennsylvania Mu Chapter was quite active this past school year. With both debate and individual events teams, members traveled all over the Quaker State and Ohio to participate in numerous tournaments. Fortunately, this has been a successful year for the Thiel College Chapter.

Traveling to nine tournaments including the convention-tournament of the Province of the Northeast, the debate team produced an average record. The individual events team, however, was most successful: Debra Turk placed fourth in oral interpretation at West Chester State College, first place in oratory at Bloomsburg State College and sixth place in oratory at California State College; and Mark Gardner placed second in oratory at Bloomsburg State College.

With Sonya Wilt as coach and sponsor, the chapter has 12 members: Debbie Ajak, Mike Briegel, Jim Crawford, Jim Davy, Mark Gardner, Jaynee Hasson, Debby Hayes, Ed Markwardt, Linda Meyer, Susan Mitchell, Debby Turk and John Wotus.

NEWARK COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING Reporter: Gary Prince

See one debate and you've seen them all. At least, that was true until the engineers from Newark College Engineering (New Jersey) added a new twist . . . the computer. Before the debate the computer prepares a thorough, statistical analysis of the topic. Then, during the debate the engineers use a remote entry terminal connected to the computer to check the validity of the side's statistics. Even opposing venerable card file has been replaced by a computer data-file featuring a tremendous capacity for retrieving data! By the time you read this, a demonstration debate will have taken place between N.C.E. and Monmouth College. A full report of the debate will follow in a later issue.
