as to give the element of an ordinary business education. But there is needed a man who is specially devoted to his work, who can bring to it knowledge energy and enthusiasm. It is possible we think that such a man may be found who will possess these qualifications and whose services for a very moderate sum may be obtained.

The Bible in College.

The place of the Bible in the college is one of the questions of the day. The feeling is somewhat undefined that even denominational Colleges have been drifting from their proper landmarks, moorings, in this respect.

the importance that every educated man should be acquainted with that book whose Spirit permeates the literature of Christendom and the ethics of Christendom is being more and more thoroughly impressed. There is a growing demand which may soon be imperious, that the Bible shall be one of the text books studied in a Christian College. What shall be the scope of the work; what shall be its relation to the other parts of the curriculum. Has not yet been determined. We have not mastered the problem here. There are no suitable text-books or system of graded lessons. During the past year all have studied the Bible, must proved [illegible] satisfactory results. The experiment on the whole gives promise of success. Yet it is not entirely successful seem then to be a question worthy of your consideration whether or not this the part of wisdom to select another teacher of art; until the institution is able to ~~contribute something for~~ assume for a time at least a considerable proportion of the money necessary for her support.

Let me now summarize the points suggested for your consideration

1. The conferring of the degree of Bachelor of Arts upon Miss Jennie M. Sherman. and the degree of Bachelor of Literature upon Miss Alice Brewer.

2. The appointment of Professor O. C. Charlton Curator of the museum. This will be a legal advantage in securing chemical supplies. There is presented in an urgent request of the Faculty.

The Business department.

The demand on the part of young men for a business education is great: & fail to secure a good many because we cannot hold out the inducements of a business College. The course however is so arranged
