TWO GAMES WITH K. U.

O. U. Basketeers at Lawrence Dec. 7 and Jayhawks Here Dec. 10.

Ottawa University will play two basketball games with University of Kansas next season. Coach Dick Godlove announced today. The Braves will meet the Jayhawks at Lawrence on December 7 and again in Ottawa on December 10.

Godlove said the basketball season was too far away for him to make any guesses on what sort of a team the Braves will have. All members of the squad which improved remarkably well at the end of last season, will be eligible to play this year. New material will also be available.

An attractive schedule is being arranged, Godlove said, with 10 home games. All conference contests are scheduled and negotiations are under way for non-conference games to complete the calendar.

O. U. SENIORS GET GOOD JOBS

SEVERAL PLACE IN TEACHING PROFESSION

Some Into Business, Others in Graduate Schools, and Still Others in Seminaries

Ottawa University seniors who graduated last spring and were thrown out into the cold world to shift for themselves are finding it not so tough as it was painted, for most of them now have positions or are continuing their education in graduate schools.

Monday or Tuesday morning will find at least 12 of the recent senior class appearing in public school recitation rooms as teachers starting careers which they hope will prove lucrative to themselves and beneficial to the young minds they will instruct.

Dorothy Mae Bower will go the farthest away to teach, having a position in Mosquero, N. Mex. Don Coldren will teach in the Dunlap, Kas., high school and preach at Council Grove Baptist church. Frances Easton will go to Lyndon high school, Chester Fleming to Fontana high school, Eileen Wilson and June Fockele to White Water, Melva Janssen to Norwich, Ruth Parrish to Offerle, Mary Rockenback to Crystal Lake, Ill., Leo Stewart to Densmore as principal of the grade and high schools, Charles Teghtmeyer to Waverly and Robert Williams, to Mildred as coach. Other seniors may enter the teaching field in the next few days.

The teaching profession, however, does not include all of the students. Eldon Addy and Fred Koehler may accept offers from the Intercollegiate Press in Kansas City. Loren Latimer is in the clothing business in Ottawa with his father. Other seniors are considering business opportunities.

Several will continue their education in graduate schools. Ricks Matson and Richard Conard will enter medical school at K. U. Three students will work in graduate schools on fellowships: Lowell Orbison at Michigan State, Arthur Lien at Ohio State, and Emory Lyons at Fort Hays State. George Lister will go to the Cincinnati Embalming college.

Four ministerial students will enter seminaries. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Whiteker and William Christy have left to enroll at Eastern in Philadelphia. David Apra will attend Rochester, N. Y. seminary.

Marriage has claimed one of the fair members of the class. Marjorie Schober was married in June to Prentiss Haworth and is now living in Detroit where he is employed in the laboratories of the United States Rubber company.

O. U. TEACHERS AS COUNSELORS

A PERSONAL ATTENTION TO STUDENTS STRESSED

Faculty Will Meet Tuesday to Consider Details of Getting Year's Work Started

At the opening Ottawa University faculty meeting next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, President Andrew B. Martin will tell his staff of teachers that emphasis this year will be placed on student counseling.

"The small college has a most excellent opportunity to give personal attention to its students, and we intend to use the system more this year than we ever have before," said Dr. Martin.

In addition to student counseling the faculty will consider routine business matter. Enrollment and registration methods to be used September 14 when the University begins its 73rd annual session will be discussed. Faculty committees will be appointed, orientation courses will be arranged and the housing groups will be discussed.

University officials have made no statements regarding the possible enrollment for this fall. It is known, however, that Charlton Cottage has only one or two vacancies and that the Iota Psi house is filled. The cut in NYA allotments to Kansas schools is bound to keep many young people out of school. Last year it was 18 per cent of the previous Oct. 1 enrollment and this year it will be only 8 per cent. There is a possibility, however, that the figure may be increased.

Students and faculty members are coming into Ottawa in increasing numbers. By Monday evening all of the faculty will be in the city, and practically all students will be here by opening of school on September 14. Football practice will begin Monday, hot or cold, rain or shine, according to Coach Richard Godlove.

The bride wore the wedding dress of her mother, white soisette fashioned with tunic of lace. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Ottawa High School, and both are students of Ottawa University. They are seniors and will attend college this year, graduating next spring. Mr. and Mrs. Howard will make their home with the parents of the bride on Route 1, Ottawa.

O. U. Squad Gets Down to Work

Two Practice Sessions Daily This Week—Probably Only 35 or 40, But Fairly Good.

The Ottawa University Braves started their fall training in two stiff workouts yesterday. Coach Richard Godlove sent his proteges through limbering up drills designed not only to put the boys in shape but also to give them some knowledge of the ways of football. The squad is not yet complete. Godlove expected quite a group of men in today and tomorrow.

Practice sessions will be held at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon each day this week and on Monday of next week. Thereafter the team will go into its regular schedule of one practice each afternoon.

The first game will be against Haskell here on Cook field the night of Sept. 24.

The squad will be smaller than usual this year, probably not over 35 or 40. Practically all of these, however, will be varsity material with about the usual number of top-flight players.

Godlove announced yesterday that he has scheduled a game to be played here Oct. 1 between the Ottawa "B" team and Chautauque junior college.

SEASON TICKETS AT A CUT PRICE

FOUR GAMES AT O. U. FOR $2.24 THIS SEASON.

This Means a Saving of $1.97—
C. of C. Out Next Week To Sell 500 Tickets.

The liberal price on season football tickets for Ottawa University home games may be checked directly back to local business men. When Coach Richard Godlove announced there would be a rise in admissions this fall, he was approached by several who figured that a low season ticket price would encourage greater numbers to attend the games. Godlove thought so, too, and agreed to make a $2 price, plus tax, if 500 tickets could be sold.

Ralph S. Hanes was selected as chairman of the group promoting the deal and the matter was presented yesterday to the Chamber of Commerce which group was quick to accept responsibility for the drive.

The campaign proper will get under way next Tuesday morning with several teams making solicitations. Stores, offices and shops will be canvassed thoroughly.

The price of $2 plus 24 cents tax represents a total saving of $1.97 over single admissions for the four games. The price will include reservations. Purchasers will be allowed to select their own seat locations. While only a few, of course, may sit on the 50-yard line, Godlove assured everyone that all season ticket reservations will be within the 40-yard line which is good "seeing" territory for any fan.

The squad had its second pair of workouts yesterday and several fans who looked on came away feeling sure the squad would produce a better team than a year ago. The men are larger and there is more speed.

TOUCHDOWN BOMBS NEW O. U. FEATURE

FIREWORKS AND STUNTS
BETWEEN HALVES.

Newly Uniformed Band Another
Attraction—Bermuda Grass
in Good Shape for Play.

Every touchdown which the Ottawa University Braves make this fall will set off an aerial bomb. Residents of the city need not be alarmed should they hear a bombardment in the southeast section. It will not be the Japanese, only the Braves marching across the goal line.

The touchdown bombs are a part of the program of making a big show out of every Ottawa University home football game. To be sure the Ottawans themselves on the gridiron are going to put on the main show, but the bombs and other things are going to add a touch of entertainment for the fans.

Coach Richard Godlove will have a few fireworks displays for the games and will have well planned stunts between halves of each game. These with the added attraction of the newly uniformed band should make each home game an event of importance in the city.

The gridiron itself will be in the best condition of recent years. The Bermuda grass planted last spring and carefully tended all summer has done much to beautify the field. The curbing on the track surrounding the field is being made as neat as possible in every way. The stands are being repainted so that fans will have clean places to sit. Reservtd seat sections will be plainly marked and separated from the rest of the seats by fences.

Students this year will be seated on the east side of the field in order that they may be near the center of the gridiron. The seats on that side are being repaired and put in good condition.

Other improvements are being made with the view of making every spectator as comfortable as possible.

BUSY PACKING FOR TREK BACK TO SCHOOL DUTY

Large Number College-Minded In This County

MANY GOING TO O. U.

Transcripts Indicate Fine Percentage of Last Year's High Class—K. U., K-State, Emporia Teachers and Others Also Lure Students From Here.

Franklin county's young people are college minded these days, many having already left for schools where they will take advanced work and others in the rush of packing and preparing to leave. Ottawa University, University of Kansas, Kansas State college at Manhattan and Emporia

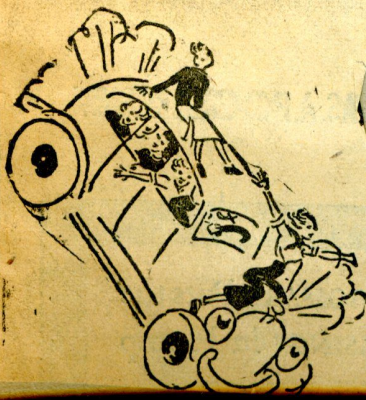

State Teachers college are getting the largest groups from here with many other schools included in those chosen by Ottawa people.

Many attending University of Kansas will drive up and back every day, sharing expenses of cars used.

Many Going to O. U.

According to advance conferences the largest number of Ottawa high school graduates in recent years will enter Ottawa University this fall. President Andrew B. Martin said yesterday that favorable contacts had been made with over 40 of the local students, 25 per cent over the number of Ottawa freshmen enrolling the last few years. "Some of these may not enter O. U., and on the other hand there are undoubtedly others who may decide at the last minute to continue their education," Dr. Martin commented. It is expected that there will be over 100 Franklin county students in O. U. this fall enrolled in the four classes.

SPECIAL TICKET RATE MAKES HIT

MANY O. U. FANS EXPRESS THEIR APPROVAL.

Drive To Sell 500 Starts Next Tuesday—Squad the Best in Several Years.

Ottawa sports fans like the season football ticket plan. Although Ralph S. Hanes, chairman of business men who are organizing the sale, has announced that work will not begin until Tuesday, fans have expressed approval and have asked numerous questions concerning the tickets.

The price will be $2 plus a 24-cent state and federal tax which makes the total cost to the individual $2.24. Seats will be reserved between the 40-yard lines. That means they will be in the center of the stands. They will be reserved for the entire season.

For some reason an idea has spread that there will be a limit on the number of tickets any one person may purchase. O. U. athletic authorities have said that nothing like that had ever been thought of. In fact, several business men have already announced plans to buy extra tickets so that out-of-town customers and friends may be entertained.

The committee in charge must sell 500 tickets in order that the plan be acceptable to the O. U. officials. With the interest being shown at this time, it seems apparent the sale will be successful.

Perhaps the biggest reason for the enthusiasm being shown is that the football squad which works out every day looks as good as any in the past few years, and certainly much better than any in the last four seasons. Coach Richard Godlove won't even risk predicting what his lads will do in the way of winning games, but one can tell by the half-concealed smile that he feels he has something in the way of possibilities.

The first game will be played Sept. 24 against Haskell Institute on Cook field, starting at 7:45.

O. U. STUDENTS NOW ENROLLING

FRESHMEN ALSO BEGIN TAKING MENTAL TESTS

Rev. Lee of Topeka Urges A Resolve to Make the Most Out of College Life

The 73rd annual session of Ottawa University began this morning at a convocation attended by students and many visitors. Rev. Alvin J. Lee of Topeka gave the address.

Registration of upper classes began immediately after the assembly. No estimate could be made today of the possible enrollment. Most of the students will be enrolled by Thursday evening.

Mr. Lee urged that the new students resolve while in college to gain a broad knowledge, to develop their bodies, to make new friends, and last but not least, to make a real effort to find themselves and determine life careers.

President Andrew B. Martin and Joe Lynch, president of the student body, welcomed the students to the campus.

Freshmen, somewhat bewildered by the swirl of opening events, began their mental examinations this morning under direction of Dr. B. P. Heubner. There was nothing to be afraid of in the tests, but many of the first year students were rather fearful as they started writing.

Tonight new women students will be guests of the old students, at an informal party in the commons room. New men were guests at a watermelon feed on the campus.

How Golf Links On O. U. Campus

"THREE-HOLE, PAR SEVEN"
COURSE POPULAR.

Hazards Provide Excellent Opportunity To Improve One's Play—
No Green Fees.

Traditionally "broke" college students have solved the problem of playing golf by laying out a course on the O. U. campus. The course is laid on the west side of the campus, between the Tenth street driveway and Ninth street, running parallel to Cedar street. The course has from three to five holes, depending on the player. Rules also depend on the player. This naturally makes for better scores. The most popular course is the 3-hole one. It consists of a short drive down a fairway parallel to Cedar street to a large cottonwood tree that serves as a green. The second hole is laid close to the Tenth street driveway, starting at the cottonwood tree and going down to a large tree of undetermined origin close to the administration building. Hole No. 3, the most hazardous, goes back to another tree at the start of the course. Par on the individual holes has not been definitely decided, but all agree that seven is par for the course. Although still in its infancy, the course is attracting much attention from new and old students alike. The trees and depressions in the campus provide excellent opportunity to improve approach shots and putting at trees is unexcelled for improving one's green playing.

As yet no holes-in-one have been reported. The popular "three-hole, par seven" course was laid out by John and Eddie Sheldon, 904 South Cedar street, who generously announce that no green fees will be charged for playing on their brain child.

No formal plans for organization or rules have been made yet.

REV. LEE OF TOPEKA SPEAKER AT OTTAWA U.

Opening Convocation This Morning.

President Martin Believes 1937 Enrollment Will Be As Large As Last Year.

Special to The Capital.

Ottawa, Kan., Sept. 12.—The Rev. Alvin J. Lee, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Topeka, will give the address at the opening convocation of Ottawa University next Tuesday morning. Sharing honors with the Rev. Mr. Lee will be four new members of the university staff who will be introduced to the students and visitors gathered for the beginning of the school's seventy-third session.

The new members are Robert Bundy of Wichita, business manager; Dr. Allen K. Wikgren of Kansas City, registrar and professor of classical languages; Dr. Harold E. Conrad of Medina, N. Y., head of the history and government department, and Miss Virginia Richard of Partridge, Kan., librarian.

Dr. Andrew B. Martin, president, announced that he believes that the enrollment will be as large, at least, as it was last year. Good crops thruout most of the state will help many students to go to college this fall who last year could not finance their way. The sharp cut, however, in Federal aid will keep several from attending university, Doctor Martin believes.

Student leaders are already on the campus preparing for various school opening activities, including rush week which begins Tuesday. At Ottawa all students must belong to one of the nine housing groups, which are organized along the same lines as local fraternities.

SELLING TICKETS FOR O. U. GAMES

BUSINESS MEN ARE PUSHING THEIR DRIVE

A Season Ticket At $2.24 Means a Saving of $1.99 Over Single Admission Price

The season ticket campaign for Ottawa University was given a rousing send-off last night as workers met in an enthusiastic dinner meeting at North American hotel. Rev. W. I. Hastie was toastmaster and sent the group through a program designed for football fans.

The solicitation started early this morning with about 25 teams working in several districts. It is the intention that every individual be contacted, but those who are not called on may order tickets at the First National bank or at any drug store. Since many people who do not have locations in the business district will not be solicited, it is urged they place orders as soon as possible. The drive will close Friday evening. Five hundred tickets must be sold in order to have the $2.24 price acceptable to the university. Reports this afternoon were that tickets are selling briskly.

Chairman Ralph S. Hanes last night indicated that outlying towns will be covered in the drive. It was reported some tickets have already been sold in one or two towns. Five were sold to one person in Paola.

Coach Richard Godlove told the group of men something of the possibilities his team would have in the coming season. He told the fans that he believed he would have a stronger team than last year and that while a championship would be difficult to win, his team would make a good showing more than likely in every game.

Fans may save $1.99 over the established price by purchasing season tickets.

233 ARE ENROLLED

Registration Still Underway At Ottawa University

At the end of the first day and a half of enrollment at Ottawa University 233 students had registered. Since class work does not start until Monday a large number of students have not enrolled and are expected to do so today and tomorrow.

New students were a bit more anxious to go through the registration processes than the veterans. A total of 102 freshmen had completed enrollment while only 131 of the upper classmen were all through.
