

Mrs. Barker for a time in the early days, took them to an adjoining carpenter shop which was put in readiness every Saturday night. But cold weather made this plan impracticable. The pulpit platform was a later subterfuge, and finally when the third addition, the frame wing of the old church was added, Mr. Sandford Topping made an effort to establish a separate department for the little people but the rest of the school was too numerous and room could not be spared. The sweet revenge of infancy has been attained; when now the primary department takes up its abode in whatever part of the house, the place is so well filled that others have no choice but to pass on.

Our superintendents have been men wonderfully adapted for the position. The work begun by Mr. Sears, who was an able superintendent, was well carried on by Mr. Evans. Dr. Dow, whose name appears in the list of superintendents, was an able worker in the Sabbath school.

E. H. Dimick came to us an experienced Christian worker and a musician of no mean ability. During the several years of his superintendency a Sabbath school for the colored people was organized and afterwards became a part of the Third Baptist church. D. Brinkerhoff, W. R. Laws and L. H. Holt were among the active workers. This school has always received assistance from our workers. The school also pledged itself to give $25.00 a year toward the education of a native preacher in India. This pledge, I think, has never been rescinded. I find by the files of the Western Home Journal that the Baptist Sunday school held a quarterly concert under Mr. Dimick's direction.

Mr. John J. Laws possessed a wonderful Christian character which could not fail to leave its impress wherever felt. So far as I know, there has never been a year without additions to the church through the Sabbath school. Many times entire classes have been brought to Christ through the faithfulness of the Sabbath school teachers.

Mr. Laws was followed by Mr. Charles Topping, a man of rare tact, quiet, yet genial, endowed by nature with a lovable disposition that Christ's love made radiant. About this time, in lieu of the annual picnic, we chartered trains and visited neighboring cities, one time Humboldt, another Kansas City; at this time one Kansas City merchant was heard to say to another, "Trade must be picking up; have you noticed how many country people are in town today?" From July 6th to September, 1873, Prof. M. L. Ward was superintendent, leaving us at that time to take up work in Manhattan.

Dr. W. R. Laws was converted in this church and later became our superintendent. The growth of his Christian character was like that of a beautiful plant; each week we could see it stronger and putting forth new beauties. His sojourn with us was a brief one, for the Lord took his loved spirit to put forth his perfect fruition in the presence of the redeemed.

Up to 1877, when Mr. William Sumner became superintendent, the Sabbath school had held its services at 2 p. m. The time was now changed to the one we still observe. Mr. Sumner, during his year of service, taught his large class of young ladies; he felt it impracticable to continue both duties, and his class would not consent to release him.

Mr. Sumner was succeeded by Dr. P. J. Williams, whose name stands for added impetus to Bible study. The older members of the school studied with a new zest from a new standpoint; while the attention of the children was held by his unique method of spectacular illustration of the lesson. We all remember the prosperous reign of Mr. Sanford Topping over so many years. May 2, 1880 when he became superintendent the secretary's report showed that the enrollment for the year past was 203 with the largest attendance January 18th of 221 and an average attendance of 169. During that year there had been 12 conversions. Under Mr. Topping's management the school grew rapidly, but could never keep pace with his ambition. Many of us can remember hearing him say Sunday after Sunday, 'We want to see 500 here next Sunday.' One day as the secretary passed me he said, 'Mr. Topping's ambition has been attained; we have 521 present today.' In a few minutes the secretary's report was called for; when finished Mr. Topping said: 'We have a good attendance today; next Sunday we want to see 600 here.'

But organization and ambition does not tell half the story of his success. Always unostentatious, it was his delight to have the success of the school appear to be due entirely to his teachers, who could not but be faithful under his optimistic encouragement. One of the helps he instituted was a teachers' prayer meeting before church service where the teachers met and talked over the lesson and held a season of prayer in behalf of the school.

Here Mr. Topping was at his best. He made his teachers feel the deep interest he felt in the spiritual uplifting of the school. He had the power in a wonderful degree of recognizing latent ability, nor did he stop there, one whom he felt had ability for a certain work, if not at work, had no rest, no conscience-slumber until the work was undertaken.

In 1886 when our new chapel was completed, the experiment was tried of forming the school into distinct departments, each with its exercises entirely independent. Miss Carrie L. Brooks had charge of the primary department, a model teacher, bright, vivacious, and consecrated, she made a great success of this department.

The intermediate department was presided over by Mrs. H. P. Welsh. It is hardly necessary to add that this department too was prosperous. About this time Mrs. Barker brought into the Sabbath school one hundred children who had not been attending Sabbath school anywhere. Mrs. Welsh, made a habit of calling on all of her scholars and encouraged her teachers to do the same. Thereby undoing the custom of the early days, when teachers visited their pupils and the superintendents visited their teachers. I have heard Mr.

SANFORD TOPPING

H. B. TOPPING

DR. F. O. HETRICK

CHARLES TOPPING

Topping say that at first he did not approve of such entire independence of the departments, but his graceful acquiescence to the experiment indicates a happy lack of a characteristic so often fatal in strong characters.

Up to the time of Mr. Topping's superintendency, the school had been independent; elected its officers, bought its own supplies, and contributed at least twenty-five dollars a year for missions. To encourage missionary spirit and because it was felt to be right, the church decided to adopt the school, elect its officers and pay its bills, leaving the contributions of the children to be given to missions.

Within the last fifteen years, three mission Sabbath schools have been formed by workers in our school; one of them the nucleus of the North Side Baptist church. Mr. Dring, one of our missionaries now in Assam, and Miss Anna Holt, now gone to her reward, being among the number.

Relying upon a defective memory, it would be impossible even to enumerate the efficient teachers of so many years to whom so much of the school has been due. Nor would it be just to mention a few among so many able workers.

MRS. L. R. C.

Up to September 30th, 1884 the Sunday school had elected its own officers and was not legally a part of the church. Upon that date Mr. Topping introduced this resolution: "Resolved; that we incorporate the Sabbath school as a part of the church work of the church, that its officers be elected by the church. That its quarterly reports be spread on the records, and that the church exercise a general supervision of the Sabbath school as shall be hereafter ordered." This was adopted, thus it became a department of the church.

It had outgrown the present accommodations and we were moved to the skating rink. This year Mrs. A. W. Barker acted as Sunday school missionary and brought into the school 135 new scholars, 105 of whom became regular attendants.

The west wing of the new church edifice had been started. We were forced to leave the rink because of its burning and were transferred to the old Opera house. Soon after, our new building was completed and the generalship of Mr. Topping was manifested. The school was organized into departments, each holding its own opening exercises. Miss Carrie Brooks was appointed superintendent of the primary department and Mrs. Welsh superintendent of the intermediate department. H. B. Topping assistant superintendent.

Miss Brooks taught the entire department with Mrs. F. O. Hetrick as secretary and organist and F. O. Hetrick as chorister and assistant teacher and general roust-about. The south parlor upstairs was fully equipped with small chairs, an organ and such other equipment as became necessary as the work progressed.

There was an enrollment of 105 in this department with an average attendance of about 90. The strain was too great for Miss Brooks and after a few brief years ill health required her giving up the work.

Dr. and Mrs. Hetrick carried on the work until the end of the year, when after many consultations Mr. Topping obtained Mrs. Welsh's consent to take up the work as leader of this department. Mrs. Welsh doubted her own ability to talk to the children and was backward about giving up the work of the intermediate department which she had learned to love.

But as was characteristic of her, when she felt a call to specific work, she did not hesitate to obey. The work was completely reorganized. Until this time the department had been taught as one class. Mrs. Welsh divided it into classes of about ten children with sub-teachers for each class. No one could teach in this department who did not attend the primary teachers meeting held each Thursday night just preceding prayer meeting. There were nearly always young Christian workers on the waiting list to become teachers in this department. Many teachers from other churches asked and were given permission to attend these meetings and thus the influence of this good woman reached out even to other churches. Dr. and Mrs. Hetrick remained for some years as her assistants.

At this time none of the other churches had organized their schools into departments. As a result we had many children of parents from other denominations. The Assembly brought Mrs. M. H. Kennedy from Boston to teach primary methods. This was an inspiration to Mrs. Welsh, who attended all her lectures and spent a great deal of time in consultation with her.

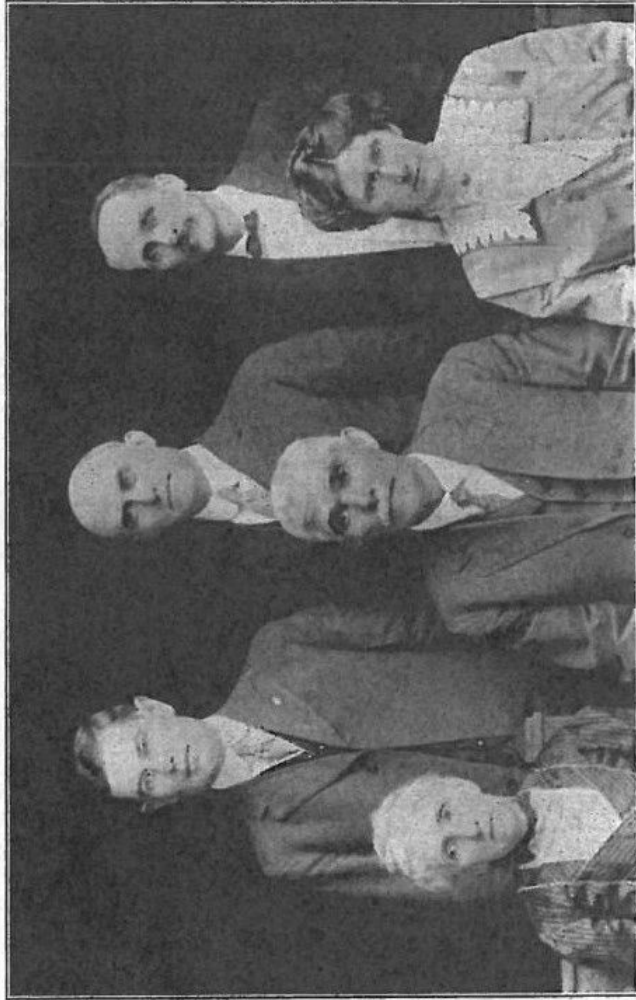

The intermediate department was also in a prosperous condition with Prof. A. S. Olin as superintendent.

The school reached its greatest enrollment during this time—637—with an average attendance one quarter of 525. On Christmas eve 600 sat down to supper at one time, every one of them members of the Sunday school.

As has been said Sandford Topping's genius consisted in getting other people to work. In one instance trying out a teacher who was a complete failure in three classes, but was a complete success with the fourth. He was conscious of her ability if the right niche could be found. He was an example of what an ideal superintendent should be, and we pay his memory a loving tribute.

In 1894 Sandford Topping was succeeded by his son, H. B. Topping—with F. O. Hetrick as assistant. And for several years things ran so smoothly that you would hardly have realized that Sandford Topping was not still superintendent.

H. B. Topping inaugurated the Teachers' conferences, these met first at his home and then at the home of the assistant. They were held quarterly and many problems of vital interest to the school were discussed. Very rarely was a teacher or officer absent. This was quite an undertaking as at this time the teachers and officers numbered about 70.

The church had agreed to finance the Sunday school buying all supplies. But the last two years they had run behind nearly $600. This H. B. Topping would not stand for and refused reelection.

In 1898 F. O. Hetrick was elected to succeed him; with the clear understanding that the financing of the school be absolutely in his hands until the debt was paid. When you consider this debt of $600 to be assumed by the Sunday school and a yearly budget of nearly three hundred dollars you will find that he had some problems to meet. That the subscription that had always been made to missions might not be neglected, special missionary collections were taken, and were given through the channels of the regular church benevolences.

The teachers' quarterly conferences were kept up a part of the time, through this administration. The Home Department and Cradle Roll were instituted and good work done.

After several years the debt was liquidated. I shall always claim that it was a church debt and should not have been put upon the Sunday school.

Conversions have always been expected in this school. The superintendent always objected to giving the Sunday school hour up for any thing or any one.

When Mr. Lambkin was here, he and the pastor W. R. Wood rather insisted on using this hour. The superintendent finally consented. The results were not what the Evangelist or pastor had expected. Mr. Lambkin was rather inclined to criticise the statement that in all that large school there were not 20 unconverted. This was proved by a personal canvass by the teachers, and the superintendent added, "They have been hand picked." Teachers were impressed with the call to service.

Mention should be made of the very efficient work at this time of Prof. Fitch as intermediate superintendent. A man well fitted for his work. An earnest Christian and one of the finest men to work with that we have ever had in the school. And of the efficient work of his wife as a teacher of young ladies. We truly lost much when they decided to take up work elsewhere.

January, 1908 Mr. E. E. Smith was elected to succeed F. O. Hetrick. A year of good work followed. The graded lessons were put in and are still used in two departments.

January 1st, 1909, our present superintendent was elected and is now upon his sixth year of service. The graded lessons are continued in the two departments. A Baracca class has been organized and splendid work is being accomplished. A class of young men from 15 to 21 years of age has been organized and is known as the Athletic Class. It has grown from 16 to 34 members and has about half its members from families outside the church. It is under the leadership of F. O. Hetrick and Arthur Willis and has an average attendance of above 20.

This past year the attendance of the school has been increased until it nearly reaches that of the times of Sandford and Hudson Topping.

This history would not be complete without mentioning some who while not holding office have been closely identified with the Sunday school through long helpful service. Our Pastors have all been deeply interested in the school and have given of their best thought to its interests. The College faculty has always been loyal to the Sunday school. At the present time each of the college classes in the Sunday school are taught by members of the faculty. Much might be written of the many workers from the college; Dr. M. L. Ward who for many years taught a young men's Bible class. Many of these young men have blessed him for piloting them over the shoals of doubt. Miss Adalaide Dicklow, Miss E. J. Short and Mrs. E. H. Fitch for their efficient work with young ladies. Prof. Gorsline's splendid work among boys. Dr. and Mrs. Colegrove, Dr. and Mrs. Franklin Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Riggs, Dr. and Mrs. Chandler, Professors Frank Deitrick, Herrick, Stewart, Hamblin, Sutherland, Charlton—and such faithful workers as Professors Schwegler, Groner, J. A. Yates, Dr. S. E. Price who have left special impress by the lasting quality of their work.

Prof. W. B. Wilson deserves special mention as the loyal faithful assistant superintendent. Having charge of the adult department for many years and is considered one of the strong forces in the Sunday school.

Among the other workers special mention should be made of Mrs. Edith Pickerell for many years able assistant to Mrs. Welch, and who succeeded Mrs. Welch as primary superintendent; of Mrs. Cornelia B. Shiras and our present primary superintendent Mrs. W. A. Rose, all of them competent, enthusiastic workers. Grace Rose, Ola Willis, Mrs. W. A. Elliott, and many others who have given splendid faithful service in this department.

As Librarians I want to mention Mr. A. W. Barker, Miss Nina St. John and Mrs. John Quinn. Each serving long periods and maintaining a high standard of efficiency.

The Intermediate department has been fortunate in having had as leaders Prof. A. S. Olin, Prof. W. H. Olin, H. B. Topping, W. H. Keith, John Sumner, E. H. Fitch, Mrs. F. O. Hetrick, E. E. Smith and wife, J. S. Balyeat and our present superintendent Truman Leeper, who has also done good work in this department in other years.

If space would permit there is a small army of workers that should be mentioned, but the chairman's words, "Condense it, condense it," ring in my ears.

Calvin Esterly in early years, teacher of boys, in later years taught the adult Bible class. C. B. Whitford, Julia Sumner, Nina Whitford, Allie Olin Esterly, Anna Holt, Clara Keith and many, many, others who gave themselves in some special work with the school. Its work has been done by many and not the few. It has never been a one man Sunday school; but all working together for the glory of God.

This is not after all a history, just a chronological outline that we should like to have made into history; but can you hear the chairman saying "condense." Well I do.

Of all the workers for all the years there has been one common predominating idea—A CALL TO SERVICE—to win souls to Christ and further their growth in Christian living.

Who shall measure the influence of the work done in this Sunday school during the fifty years of its life?

God has honored and He alone knows of its far reaching effect. Unto His Name be all the Glory.
