Annual Presentation By Ottawa
U. Choir tomorrow Will Be Free to Public

The Ottawa University choir tonight is putting the finishing touches on its 18th annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah" oratorio to be sung in the First Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. No admission is to be charged and the public is invited to attend.

Prof. Edgar D. Kerr said this morning that all of his singers are in good voice and should be able to give one of the finest performances of recent years. About 75 will be in the chorus.

J. Lawton Bennett of Kansas City will sing the tenor parts and Prof. Kerr will sing the bass solos. Student soloists will take the soprano and alto parts. Carol Steiger of Eldorado, Eileen Wilson of Ottawa and Margaret Shively of Osawatimie will sing the soprano parts. Viola Heitschmidt of Lyons, Mary Ruth Treat of Anadarko, Okla., and Jeanne Stocker of Topeka will take the alto solos.

Prof. Everett Fetter and the university orchestra will have an important part in the performance. Dorothy Rumbeck will be the accompanist at the piano and Trenna Goodwin will be at the organ.

Given a nice day the audience will probably fill to overflowing the large auditorium. The church officials will make all possible arrangements in order to provide seats for everyone.

Several seniors will be making their last appearance in the annual production. They are: Louis Alexander, Ardella Baker, Josephine Dalton, Lyle DeTar, Howard Doman, Trenna Goodwin, Howard Haworth, Prentiss Haworth, Beverly Hegele, Viola Heitschmidt, Olive Jackson, Charles Johnson, Dorothy Rumbeck, Robert Schendel, Gordon Schroeder, Dorothy Sarcy, Carol Steiger, Lorena Thompson and Mary Ruth Treat.

Well! Well! So Dee Errickson, the Ottawa coach, is married. Hungry officials now have a new stopping place down that way. Instead of inviting you to "Come down to the hotel and have a cup of coffee," the ex-Washburn athlete now will say, "Come out to the house and let's see if Mrs. Errickson has anything in the ice-box." The bride is the former Maureen Ann O'Connor, in case you don't read the society pages, and the ceremony was performed yesterday. Congratulations!

NEW PRESIDENT A 1935 O. U. GAIN

SCHOOL IN POSITION FOR SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS

University Closes Fiscal Year
With No Deficit for Fifth Consecutive Time.

The most significant event of 1935 for Ottawa University was the coming of Dr. Andrew B. Martin to the presidency early in November. After 4½ years of service as acting-president Dr. W. P. Behan, at his own request, went back to his former position as dean and head of Christianity department. The action of the trustees in securing a definite leadership for the university after leaving the presiding of the school open for so long brought a sense of stability that is already leading toward substantial progress.

For the fifth consecutive time the university closed its fiscal year on August 31 with no deficit. A campaign in the state, with C. Q. Chandler through the First Baptist church of Wichita giving $3,500, resulted in all faculty members receiving salaries in full for the year. August 31 also marked the second consecutive year during which the university has operated on a pay-as-you-go plan. The school is still operating on that idea and probably will continue to do so for at least the next few years.

Last summer a campaign was carried on to secure members in Ottawa for the Ottawa Foundation and as a result over 400 members joined the new financial plan.

The annual commencement and reunion exercises late last spring marked the close of the 70th year of the school. Appropriate programs in all Baptist churches throughout the state in April gave fitting observance to the birthday of the school. Forty-five seniors received degrees at the commencement exercises and then went out into the world looking for positions. They were successful to the point that 90 per cent of them now either have work or are in graduate schools.

After not giving an honorary degree for several years the University at the commencement exercises bestowed honorary doctor's degrees upon Dr. C. O. Hardy of the Brookings Institution in Washington, D. C., and Dr. R. R. Williams of the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New Jersey. Both were former students of the university.

While the athletic department suffered a disastrous year in football, the basketball team won the 1935 Kansas conference basketball championship in a hot race featured by many close contests. The track and field team finished second in the conference meet at Salina last spring.

At the present time the administration under the leadership of Dr. Martin is working on plans which to some extent will revise the curriculum of the university and will reorganize the student life on the campus. No definite decisions have been made as to these changes; consequently, no announcements have been made. Dr. Martin hopes that finances of the university will permit the addition of at least two faculty members next fall.

O'CONNOR — ERRICKSON

The marriage of Miss Maureen Ann O'Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Connor of Atchison and Mr. Charles Belos Errickson of Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Errickson of Topeka, was quietly celebrated this morning in Atchison. The service was read in Sacred Heart parish house at 10:30 o'clock and was witnessed by the parents of the bridal couple.

The bride wore a becoming green alpaca tailored dress with green felt hat, and accessories in shade of brown. Her bridal bouquet was a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Following the ceremony a breakfast luncheon was served at 11 o'clock in the Thorning Tea room. The bride graduated from Mt. St. Scholastica Academy in 1929 and from Mt. St. Scholastica College in 1935. During the years 1931-1933 she taught in the State Orphans Home at Atchison. Mr. Errickson finished his high school course at Virgil and graduated from Washburn College in 1922. He came here in the fall of 1931 from Fort Scott Junior College, where he was coach for seven years, to be director of athletics at Ottawa University. Since that time he has made many friends in the town, as well as in college circles.

Immediately following the breakfast luncheon, the bridal couple left on an automobile wedding trip to Washington, D. C., where they are to spend Christmas with an uncle and aunt of the bride, Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Meyers. The bride's going away costume was a camel's hair suit of skipper blue, with white accessories. From there they will go to New York City where Mr. Errickson is to represent the Kansas Conference at the National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting December 26-29. Enroute home they will be guests of the bride's parents in Chicago. Mr. O'Connor is the commissioner of conciliation stationed there with the United States department of labor. Mr. and Mrs. Errickson plan to return here January 3 to make their future home.

This drive will make it possible to continue the general improvement plan being worked out for the school.

The donations can be paid in six equal installments over a period of six months. Members of Mr. Carpenter's committee are M. H. Forrester, J. G. Kaiser, J. E. Colby, J. L. Wassmer, A. E. Willis, F. From Snowballs To Spring Clothes

Residents of Kansas adapt themselves to the changeable whims of the weather. This picture of a group of Ottawa university girls in a snowball fight in front of Charlton cottage was snapped only last week. Today, with bright sun and almost balmy temperature, thoughts of the coeds were turning to spring clothes. Maybe sleighing parties will be in order again by tomorrow night!

O. U. SAVES TOWN JR. COLLEGE TAX

TAX RATES HIGHER IN JUNIOR COLLEGE CITIES

Places Having 2-Year College Courses Must Be Supported by Public Levies.

Does having Ottawa University make a difference in the Ottawa tax rate? Comparisons with cities supporting junior colleges show that it does. Eleven towns in Kansas the size of Ottawa that do not have universities or colleges support 2-year junior colleges with public funds. In each with the exception of Hutchinson the total tax rate is higher than Ottawa's as a table below shows.

These towns must make a special tax levy for junior college operating expenses. In addition that more space and equipment are necessary. It is also true that the junior colleges are operated in connection with high schools, expense such as that for heating and janitor service is usually included in the regular school budget.

For example: If Ottawa were to start a junior college a special tax levy would have to be made for operating expenses and more classroom space provided; thus the burden would have to be increased.

In Hutchinson where the tax rate is lower than Ottawa the assessed valuation per capita is much larger. Dodge City, which has a tax levy almost as low as Ottawa's, also has a higher assessed valuation per capita.

The schools, of course, are responsible for the entire tax, a good share goes for educational purposes. Whenever a new department is added to the school system, expenses and taxes necessarily increase.

The table showing tax comparisons follows:

	Total Assessed Value
Arkansas City	$158,444
Coffeyville	144,444
Dodge City	100,000
El Dorado	92,000
Fort Scott	80,000

AN EYE FOR ART

O. U. Juniors Paint Dome Because Seniors Wouldn't Fix Up a Splotted Job.

A bit of play in the nature of a farce is going on at Ottawa University. The latest development occurred last night when the junior class painted its numerals on the dome of Tauty Jones hall. That is a rank outrage, so say the seniors, for it is only the top-notch class that has the privilege of painting numerals on the dome. Why should people go to college anyway, if there are not some exclusive privileges in the final year!

The farce started when the seniors at the first of the year followed the old custom of painting their numerals on the dome. It was an artistic job that was admired by many until some villain or villains came along one dark night, climbed to the top of the dome and plopped big splotches of paint all over the art work.

The juniors urged the seniors to repaint the dome but the last year class was obstinate and refused to do so, its members saying they were intending to repaint it just before commencement so it would be bright and shiny for their day of days. But the juniors decided they would use a little force in the matter and got up on the dome last night and painted big 37's over the surface. Now, they say, if the seniors want to leave the junior numerals on the dome all the rest of the year, it is quite all right. Otherwise they will have to get up and paint the senior 36's on the tower.

That is the status of the situation right now, but other developments may occur shortly.

O. U. OPERATES ON CASH BASIS

EXPENDITURES ARE KEPT DOWN TO RECEIPTS.

Debt Has Been Curtailed, Scholarship Fund Reduced, Tuition
Must Be Paid in Cash.

Successful management of the financial affairs of Ottawa University by the administration and the executive committee has resulted in improved financial conditions in five years. In that period the indebtedness has been lowered, expenses have been drastically cut and the school put on a cash basis operating plan.

The budget for the year 1930-31 was $112,198 while the income was $89,518 leaving a deficit of $22,680. The operating budget for last year was $57,505 and the income matched that figure. True, that was quite a bit too low for the continued academic health of the university, but the administration and trustees were working on the simple theory that the school must not spend more than its annual income; so expenses were held down. The trustees are pledged to the constituency to keep the university on a cash basis and for the third year they are accomplishing that purpose.

Not only has the operating expense been held down in order not to increase the debt but the amount owed by the university has been cut to almost a third of what it once was. At the conclusion of the 1930-31 period the indebtedness amounted to $137,292. Today it amounts to $46,686. Five years ago the interest rate was 7 per cent, taking an annual toll of over $9,000 from the current expense of the university. Today it ranges from 4 to 6 per cent representing a large saving.

Despite the fact that tuition is much less than it was in 1930-31, the university is collecting as much cash from students this year as it did then. It was customary in those days to take around $8,000 in tuition notes. Now no tuition is taken in notes. The allotment for scholarships has been sharply curtailed, from around $8,000 to less than $4,000. That is an especially favorable showing when compared to practices of other universities during the same period. In the last five years schools generally have been taking much tuition in notes. Some have even taken notes for room and board in dormitories. Scholarship funds have also been increased in other schools. The administration believes that O. U. is much better off for having resorted not only to a cash basis in spending but also in collection of tuition.

The improved financial condition points to the fact that the university is being operated by men who use business methods. Those who contribute to the university can thus be assured of the fact that their money will be used to the best advantage. The trustees feel that the income of the school must be increased in order to make developments that are absolutely necessary to the future of the university.

CHECKER IRON MAN

Dr. Bernhart of O. U. to Take on
All Comers, Play Blindfolded
Against O. U. Winners.

Dr. Arthur Bernhart of the Ottawa university faculty will attempt an iron man checker stunt tomorrow night at the O. U. commons room when he takes on all comers in checker games and at the same time plays blindfolded against the university tournament winners in checkers, chess and camelot.

The occasion is a general session of games for the benefit of the commons room fund. An admission of five cents will be charged and it will cost another five cents to play. Those who want to play should bring their own boards and checkers. It is expected that about 20 checker fans will be lined up against Dr. Bernhart. He will meet any and all who bring their boards and will give a prize to anyone winning a game or a draw. At the same time he will be playing Bob Hornsby, L. C. Haughn and Garnet Livingston, the college champions in chess, checkers and camelot, respectively. All residents of the community interested in the games are invited to pack up their boards and attend. The games will start at 7:30.

Prof. Bernhart Played Checkers,
Chess, Camelot

Playing 15 games at once last night, Prof. Arthur Bernhart in the Ottawa University commons room, won eight in checkers and tied one; won one in chess and lost two, and won one in camelot and lost two. He played one game of each type while blindfolded, losing a blindfolded chess and a blindfolded camelot game, but winning at checkers with a bandage over his eyes. It was the first time he had tried the stunt of 15 games at once, he said. His competitors were all O. U. students.
