

Wayne Powell: "Your organized personality has helped me to better organize my life."

EVALUATION (78S) College "Intro. to the Bible"
Robt. Diquattro, volunteer question on final examination

"8. WHAT HAS THE COURSE MEANT TO YOU IN TERMS OF PERSONAL AND SOCIAL MEANING?"

Personally, my mind and heart (both coils) have been opened up and aired out. Also, they have become more synchronized. Also, they have realized to a greater degree, more separate identities. When a person's mind is filled with confusion and fallacy and when his emotions are seething with resentment and fear, the two coils sort of wallow around in a negative soup. They are neither distinguishable from one another, nor are they able to function in concert.

"I came into the course hungry to begin to know--to begin to sort out that which I have been told to believe about the nature of the Scripture from that which I believe. The course has helped to clarify in my mind just what the scriptures are and what they are not. The intellectual clarification has begun to resolve some of the emotional tangle. The unraveling of my emotions enables me to think clearer; and, as a result, there has begun in me a positive cycle of healing.

"It is this healing process which equips me to serve in my Christian community and through it. The more emotionally stable I become, the clearer I can think; and as I reach out to people as a growing person, emotionally and intellectually, the Holy Spirit has more and more material with which to reveal Jesus through me.

"You, Dr. Elliott, have been a model for me of a man who is emotionally stable and intellectually keen. I sense the Spirit in both your mind and heart; and as a result of this course, I more keenly sense the Spirit in my own mind and heart."
