

your ideas. For that reason, debating experience should be a great asset to anyone in the business world.

"Well, I'm very sorry that our visit is limited to two minutes. It has been a real treat to be able to send you best wishes from Omer Voss, General Manager of the Farm Equipment Division for International Harvester in Chicago."

(The tape recorder was stopped by Professor Carlile.)

My third colleague, whom I debated with two years, recently addressed the Honor Staff of his organization in Honolulu at a special convention. He was student body president while a debater. Today, fifty men work full and part-time for him. Note what he says.

(The tape recorder was started again. The third colleague's voice, emotionally vibrant, and of unique tenor quality, was heard.)

"I'm Jim Kershner, Regional Supervisor of the National Fidelity Life Insurance Company, Manhattan, Kansas. May I extend the warmest of greetings to the Idaho Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta and to my dear friend and former colleague, Clark Carlile.

"Of all the training which I have received in my lifetime, I value most of all my college debating experience. Aside from the fact that I learned to organize my thinking and to express myself, I also discovered what I could accomplish if I gave my very best effort. This, I think, is so important in every person's life.

"Speech work is ideal for the development of vigorous and well-adjusted individuals, who can make useful contributions to society. So to you, students, I say now is the time, through speech work, to develop the habit of giving an all-out effort to any assignment. Do your best always.

"To you, Clark, I would like to say that I know your excellent teaching has enabled many a student to truly find himself and thus live his life to the fullest. The results of such an accomplishment will live on through everlasting time.

"This is Jim Kershner, Regional Supervisor, National Fidelity Life, Manhattan, Kansas."

(Again, the tape recorder was stopped by Professor Carlile.)

When my fourth colleague identifies himself, some of you will recognize him because you have met him. Obviously, I see him occasionally, and you will know why when he introduces himself. He had fifty cents in his pocket when he entered college, and he worked out his tuition in order to enroll. Last year he was in Europe for six months.

(For the fourth time, the tape recorder was started. The last colleague's voice—low, mellow, powerful—reached the audience.)

"Mr. Chairman, Colleagues, Members of Idaho Gamma Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, I bring you greetings from Washington Zeta Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, Bellingham, Washington. This is Sene Carlile speaking. I am Chairman of the Department of Speech at Western Washington State College in Bellingham.

"It is very difficult for me to attempt to answer what debate has meant to me after looking back on it for these past twenty-five years. It's a very interesting thing to conjecture just what I might be doing now if my brother Clark hadn't talked me into attending a forensics meeting exactly twenty-six years ago. I knew nothing about debate; I had no interest in it; I was reluctant to go. But I did take part in forensics for four years as an undergraduate student, and I recall quite vividly that two of the most proud moments in my undergraduate career came when I was awarded the special distinction key in Pi Kappa Delta, and when my brother and I won the provincial tournament. Debate provided enough challenge for me that despite the fact that I was a science major, I shifted to the field of speech as I went on into graduate school. And thanks to this interest and the continuing interest in forensics, I stayed, I fear, far too many years in grad school. But it was the motivating force in my going on and in my continuing in this particular field.

"I fear it's a sad, but true, commentary on the American system of education that about the only truly stimulating activity for the intellectually-capable student is in forensics. At least, I know that students today are finding that true; and those of us who were tempted by it a good many years ago certainly found it true then.

"Debate has meant a lot to me. Not only did it provide the stimulus, but it provided a very important satisfaction in that my first job as a college teacher came primarily because of my experience with intercollegiate forensics—because I was a debater and because they needed someone who had that particular background to institute a program.

"Last year when I was doing research at the University of Edinburgh and at the University College in London, it was my privilege to work with students from all over the world—many of them from Iron Curtain countries. I found they had little understanding of us and our culture—certainly no understanding of us as a people. Struggle as I would, I could not make my explanations clear; and much to my amazement, by accident I stumbled onto a little gimmick, a device which meant more in a few words than thousands had done otherwise. I explained the forensics program; and that, to them, typified the difference between their culture and ours. It caused me to conclude all over again that debate is an essential tool for the analysis, for the synthesis of ideas necessary in a free society. It caused me to believe even more strongly that debate is not only an opportunity, a privilege, but a responsibility. It encourages that continual and fearless sifting and winnowing by which alone the truth can be found.

"This is Sene Carlile speaking. Goodnight. Best wishes to all of you."

You debaters have heard four men testify what debate has meant to them after a quarter of a century. They know its value and they speak with authority. They are all eminently successful. Each one is an administrator. Twenty-five years ago they had no idea where they would be today, no more than you can predict where you will be a quarter of a century from now. I do not know where you are going nor what will unfold before you; but I do know one thing—you can never go back, not for one minute. You can move only into the future. A man once said, "Never look back." I say you should look back cautiously to see where you have been, but keep your eyes ahead. The future is rushing upon you, and competition is surrounding you at unprecedented speed. Let me read you a brief description of it.

"On the morning of May 27, 1955, the population indicator in the main lobby of the Department of Commerce Building in Washington, D. C., registered 165,000,000—a figure which only thirteen years earlier the Census Bureau believed would not be reached before the year 2000, if ever.

"Operating like the mileage indicator on an automobile speedometer, the population 'clock' registers one birth every eight seconds, one death every twenty-one seconds, the arrival of one immigrant every two minutes, and the departure of one emigrant every twenty-four minutes—one net addition to the United States population every twelve seconds. In a very real sense, the steady ticking of this clock, day in and day out, dramatizes the magnitude of the task which confronts public and private education in the United States in the years ahead."

Three hundred new persons per hour—in twenty years they will be after your job! Twenty million increase in the United States population since 1955—soon, they will all be after somebody's job!

There you have the picture, and you are in it. The future lies ahead—it is the only place you can go—opportunity and competition await you.

In closing my remarks, I have a special request to make to each of you debaters tonight, and I trust you will not forget. Will you, twenty-seven years from now, in 1990, let me know where you are and what you are doing?

May Aristotle be with you!

LARRY NORTON

I want to express my sincere appreciation for the privilege of serving as your Secretary-Treasurer while we begin our second fifty years dedicated to the development of forensic activities. The responsibilities pertaining to the national office of Pi Kappa Delta have been established by the expressed needs of the local chapters throughout the years. Since the local chapter is the heart of the national organization, I hope that each chapter will continue to express its needs and thereby help this office keep the channels of communication open for information, suggestions and supplies.

During the latter part of August, following the Speech Association of America convention in Denver, I detoured by way of Ada, Oklahoma and loaded the car with Pi Kappa Delta materials most essential for getting operations under way from the Peoria base. For two days, as we studied records and packed supplies, D.J. and I discussed the secretarial procedures as they relate to the national office. I was impressed with the fact that we should be proud of the efficient manner in which D.J. has administered the affairs of this office over the past ten years. He has provided a devotion of time, energy and imagination far beyond the awareness of the casual observer. The bulk of records and other office materials will be shipped to Peoria as soon as possible in keeping with our efforts to obtain the most favorable transportation rates.

Early in October you should receive the annual Fall letter asking for information relative to names of chapter members, name of sponsor, needed supplies, etc. The letter will also include questions upon which the 1963 Convention requested that the chapters be polled. Please return the information sheet as soon as possible. As a local sponsor, if you haven't received the letter by November first, drop me a card requesting it. We need the answers from every chapter.

Because I believe that a major strength of our local chapters is the provision for advancing members in degree, may I urge sponsors to send in form B for advanced standing. Since form A for new members will be in the files, it is not necessary to repeat the records appearing on form A. When keys are ordered which merit jewels not earned according to the Form A application blank, it is essential to have this additional record in the office. Advanced standing membership cards will also be sent out. Strengthen your local chapter by increasing the number of members holding honor and special distinction cards. May I also urge all members to become wearers of the Pi Kappa Delta key. The Balfour Company makes a belt loop and a tie chain for men from which a key may be suspended. Remember that from three to six weeks should be allowed for delivery of key orders.

For several years the Bradley Chapter has sent Pi Kappa Delta desk calendars to chapter alumni and friends at Christmas time. Your Chapter may want to do this also. These calendars may be ordered direct from, The Carcross Company, Taunton, Mass.

Copies of orations receiving a superior rating and some with the highest excellent ratings at the 1963 Convention are available at 50c per set.

★★★★★★★★★ CHAPTER NOTES ★★★★★★★★★★

ALABAMA COLLEGE

Alabama Beta at Alabama College at Montevallo, will serve as host for the First Annual Central Alabama Novice Tournament. Consisting of five rounds of debate, the tournament will be held on the weekend of November 8-9, 1963. Schools from a five-state area are expected to attend.

In addition, the chapter plans to attend the Dixie Debate Tournament at Mercer in October and the Birmingham Invitational Tournament in December.

UNIV. OF ILLINOIS AT CHICAGO

Thirty-five students have begun work on the current intercollegiate debate topic at Navy Pier, that is, the University of Illinois at Chicago, Illinois, according to forensic whip Ted R. Jackson. The freshmen in this year's group will be the first students to be graduated from the new Congress Circle campus in Chicago. Plans have been made for their Sixteenth Annual Freshman-Sophomore Debate Tournament on Friday and Saturday of December 13 and 14, 1963 (six rounds, one or two units).

WEST TEXAS STATE

The Pi Kappa Delta Workshop at Abilene this Sept. 27-28 will spearhead the action of the West Texas State University debaters as they begin their forensic forays this fall.

Debate with Cambridge in early December highlights the fall season preceded by a rugged schedule of competitors such as Texas Tech of Lubbock, Texas Christian University, University of Mexico and the Amarillo Golden Spread Tournament.

According to Gene Lewis, head of the WTSU forensic department. "This season should be the busiest and the most productive season of debates in the history of WT."

Other debaters and members of the West Texas Speech Club are Lewis Wagoner, Canyon Senior; Donna Humphreys, Levelland Junior; Louis Strovas, Houston Junior;

MORRIS HARVEY COLLEGE

The college proudly celebrates its seventy-fifth anniversary this year. Elaine McGuire, Secretary, announces the West Virginia Gamma chapter will sponsor the Kanawha County Bar Association "Kick-Off" Tournament the second weekend of November.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

Two of the chapter's officers, President Douglas Sasse, and Treasurer Carol Adams, are off-campus on practice teaching assignments. But Vice President Barbara Dawson and Secretary Pris Dawe are on hand to plan new programs. Delegations of forensic students traveling by college bus will enter two tournaments this winter.

The local chapter sponsors and runs the annual High School Discussion and Debate Conference on October 12.

PACIFIC LUTHERAN UNIVERSITY

The past year was an extremely rewarding one for the members of the Washington Epsilon Chapter of Pi Kappa. Each year the chapter sponsors a high school Student Congress, a campus oratorical contest, and a high school forensic tournament. The tournament, held during the month of February, ran three days and hosted approximately 1,000 students plus coaches. Under the supervision of Merle Overland as director and Kieth Swenson as assistant director, the tournament was run with a minimum amount of problems. The money earned from these various activities enabled Washington Epsilon to send eight delegates along with sponsor Professor T.O.H. Karl and his wife to the Pi Kappa Delta Nationals in Carbondale, Illinois. Again, the chapter was rewarded by being one of four schools in the nation to receive a superior rating in both men's and women's sweepstakes, and by having Professor Karl re-elected to the National Council. This very successful year was brought to an end by the annual banquet at which the new pledges are formally taken into Pi Kappa Delta. This year it was addressed by the new President of the University, Dr. Robert Mortvedt who was chosen one of the Famous Fifty.

During the last business meeting at the Pi Kap Nationals, many may remember a memorable speech given by Hap Mahaffey about the school "nestled beneath the grandeur of Mt. Rainier." In flowery terms, Mr. Mahaffey made a bid for the National convention to be held in the Northwest Province and at Pacific Lutheran University in 1965. As a result of this invitation, the National president visited the PLU campus during August 21-23.

OTTAWA UNIVERSITY

The Ottawa University debate squad (Kansas Alpha) which closed its debate season last spring with a Sweepstakes Superior at the Pi Kappa Delta National Tournament, is now making preparations for its first tournament at Parsons College (Iowa). Tournaments tentatively scheduled for the first semester are: Parsons College, Texas Christian, Bronco Forensics, U. of Arkansas, Iowa State U., Southwestern College, and Kansas State. In addition, other tournaments will be added as the season progresses.

Officers for the Alpha Chapter during the school year will be Jeff Cunningham, president Carl Joecks, vice-president; Ann English, secretary-treasurer; and Don Shorock, reporter.

According to Prof. Michael S. Twedt, chapter sponsor, the debate future looks bright since last year's entire squad returned. Also, many promising freshmen will help bolster the squad.

MONTANA STATE COLLEGE

The academic year 1962-63 was a memorable one for the Montana State College debate squad and for our Montana Beta Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta.

M.S.C. debaters participated in 10 major tournaments during the year and brought home 14 major trophies. The team of Laury Eck and Gerry Neely compiled a record of 77% wins for the year. They were undefeated in 4 tournaments and received an Excellent in debate at the Pi Kappa Delta National Tournament. M.S.C. also received a Superior in Men's Sweepstakes at the National.

During the year M.S.C. sponsored the Fourth Annual Treasure State Tournament for colleges, sponsored a high school District Tournament, and assisted in another high school tournament.

With all but one of last year's squad returning, the coming year promises to be an active and profitable one.

FRESNO STATE COLLEGE

By sheer coincidence, Fresno State College like Pi Kappa Delta is celebrating fifty years of service to the community. Since 1957, California Nu has been the voice of public speakers in student government at Fresno State College. This past year has been an especially eventful one, characterized by a series of "firsts" in our forensic program.

Dr. Wayne Pace is our new director of forensics at Fresno State. He has been responsible for such new projects as on campus prize speaking contests, high school speech workshops ("the high school speaker of today is the potential college speaker of tomorrow"), and television debating. Assisting Dr. Pace in expanding the forensic program at Fresno State College are Dr. David Provost, professor of political science; Dr. Howard Campbell, professor of speech; Howard Streifford, speech instructor, and Bill Donaghy, speech instructor.

This last winter, at the Western States Alternate Tournament held at Los Angeles State College, our lower division speakers won the sweepstakes trophy. Joe Rodriguez, and Mike Somdahl won the first two places in oratory, while Richard Dangler won first place in extemp. Certificates of excellence were received by all upper and lower division speakers.

The first weekend of March we sponsored the high school National Forensic League Valley Finals. Between rounds on Saturday afternoon, the competitors watched two Fresno State College debaters, Bob Nilmeier and Bob Marshall, carry on a television debate supervised by moderator Howard Streifford. It is hoped that continued interest and community support will enable us to present a series of television debates.

Mike Harris, Don Gerig, and Bob Marshall attended the Great Western Tournament at the University of Nevada on April 4-6. On their way to a debate Don and Bob had car trouble and were given a ride to the tournament by — you guessed it — their unknowing opponents. The irony of the situation was accentuated when Fresno State won the debate. The FSC team went on to tie for fourth place in debate competition.

Eight delegates representing the country of Jamaica attended the Model United Nations conference held at San Jose State College. Don Gerig chaired the delegation while Richard Crossman, Bob Marshall, Jeff Samson, Donald Poochigian, Thorant Hardware, G. S. Bedi and Dennis Scharf attended as committeemen. The four-day conference instilled a greater understanding and appreciation of the United Nations and its member states into those who attended.

OTTAWA UNIVERSITY

Last spring, the Alpha Chapter celebrated the 50th anniversary with a speech luncheon and banquet on June 1. Leland Jenks, Charles Battin, and John A. Shields, three members of the first chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, attended. At the banquet a plaque was presented to Ottawa University to commemorate the founding of Pi Kappa Delta on the campus fifty years ago. Pi Kappa Delta representatives Dr. Georgia Bowman of William Jewell College and Dr. John Randolph of Westminster College made the presentation. The president of Ottawa University, Dr. Andrew B. Martin, accepted the plaque for the University.

BUENA VISTA COLLEGE DEBATERS

Buena Vista College

The Iowa Kappa Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta at Buena Vista College carried out an extensive program of activities during the 1963-64 season, which included participation in ten intercollegiate tournaments and numerous local speaking engagements. Members of the Speakers' Bureau were especially active, appearing before service clubs, church and civic groups.

The thirteenth annual high school forensics conference was a most successful venture with over three hundred high school students from Northwest Iowa participating in discussion, debate, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and poetry reading. Advanced speech students under the direction of Professor Gladys Kuehl, director of forensics, served as judges and chairmen for the various events. These students also judged other high school speech contests during the season.

Kappa Chapter also sponsored the ninth annual all-college oratory contest, the winners of which were presented with medals and a traveling trophy to the first-place speaker. William Wolff, sophomore, was the winner of first place.

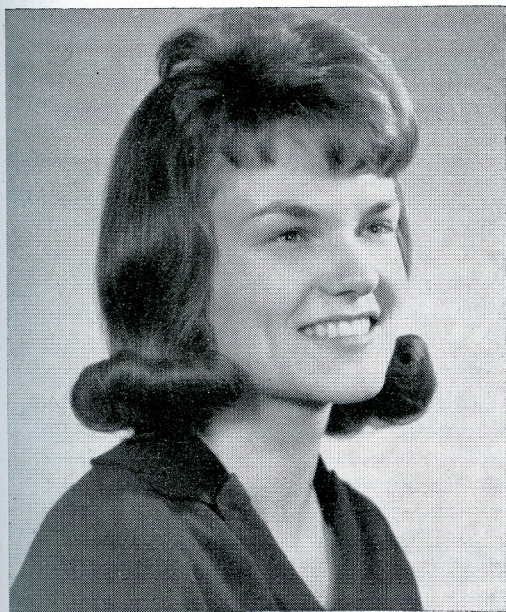

In the annual after-dinner speaking contest Luella Wohlers, junior, was the trophy winner. The Alumni Forensics Award, given annually to the most outstanding senior, was presented to Phil Redenbaugh, who now is enrolled in the Drake University Law School.

Five members comprised the team entered in the national Pi Kappa Delta tournament at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

The formal banquet for initiation of new members and installation of officers was held on May fifteenth, with Luella Wohlers as installing officer. The new officers for 1963-64 are: William Wolff, president; Pamela Washburn, vice-president; Sharon Dennis, secretary-treasurer; Donald Indlecoffer, corresponding secretary.

ALUMNI NEWS

Recent letters and visits indicate that Montana State College debaters continue to do well after graduation.

Idell Weydemeyer (pictured) has been awarded a Fulbright Fellowship and will do graduate work in New Zealand this year. Merrill Garrett and his wife, the former Pat Forney, are at the University of Illinois, where Merrill is working on his Doctorate in the field of Psycho-Linguistics. Jack Dunn is employed as an Electrical Engineer by Hewlett-Packard at their new plant at Loveland, Colorado. Don Wolfe is awaiting his appointment in a Naval Officer training program. Don Micken is working for an Architectural firm in Sheridan, Wyoming; John Nickey is a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force; John Kearns has completed his Master's degree at Wisconsin in Meteorology; Keith Wilson will do graduate work here at M.S.C.; Terry Carlson is teaching in the High School at Kalispell, Montana; Roy Weston is a Special Agent for the Bureau of Internal Revenue; Ward Swanser is attending Law School at Montana State University; and Ward Whitt is now a Senior at Dartmouth.

From the Province of the Northwest—

Here are samplings of forensic energy emanating from the rugged terrain of Idaho Gamma, Idaho State College at Pocatello—the stronghold of William N. Corbin. . . . Ralph Swisher '49 is in his third year of doctoral work in the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, University of Pittsburgh. He writes that the milieu is stimulating: about 40% of the students there are from some thirty overseas countries. . . . Ray J. Davis '49 teaches Torts and Sales in the School of Law, Temple University, Philadelphia, Penna. He is writing his doctoral dissertation for Columbia Law School. . . . John Judd '50 now operates a pharmacy in Bancroft, Idaho. . . . James R. Rupp '54 is Director of Marketing for American Research Bureau, a Division of C.E.I.R. (TV ratings). He operates out of Silver Springs, Maryland. . . . Bob Robbins '56 is Regional Sales Manager with Doubleday and Company, Inc. He lives in Lakewood, Ohio. . . . Lynn Thomas '57 has completed his Master's program at Boston University. His thesis dealt with an evaluation of the News and Public Affairs Department of the American Broadcasting Co. . . . Judy Elder '59 is presently working at KLPX, Salt Lake City, Utah, as the Assistant Promotion Manager. . . . Raymond C. (Pete) Russell '61 is Editor-in-Chief of the Philtron, Idaho Falls, Idaho. . . .

From the Province of the Lower Mississippi—

Great news from North Texas State University (Texas ETA) and William DeMougéot: John Swaney '63 has been selected as one half of the team which will represent the United States in a series of debates with British universities. Swaney and Bob Higgins of Kings College begin the tour, sponsored by the Institute for International Education, in January. In 1963, Swaney led NTSU to the quarterfinals at West Point, and in 1962, he teamed with Anne Hodges '62 to win the national television championship on the NBC series Championship Debating. This team went on to defeat Oxford University of England in an hour long NBC special. Miss Hodges is an alternate for the tour of British universities. She is currently doing graduate work in Latin American affairs at Columbia University after serving for a year on the staff of Senator John Tower. . . . Other individuals from the Denton campus are continuing PKD prowess.

James Weaver '63 is working toward a doctorate in radio and television at Syracuse University, while Lee Polk '62 has begun graduate work at Purdue. Both have fellowships. . . . Nancy Norris Walker '62 is the new Director of Forensics at Spring Branch High School in Houston and inherited last year's state championship team. . . . Laura Legg '63 who won Superior in Debate at Carbondale, is directing debate at Waco HS, Texas, and Betty Chapman '62 is doing the same at Neosho, Mo. . . . Al Conant '61 finished at the top of the class of Baylor Law School this fall. His wife, Gayle Wonders Conant '61, coaches forensics at Richfield High in Waco.

From the Province of the Lakes—

There is evidence of great burgeoning fertility and productivity at Bowling Green State University, (Ohio Eta) Bowling Green, the forensic pasture of Ray Yeager, our most recent ex-president. These are Pi Kappa Deltans all—directly and indirectly.

Jerry Banninga, now teaching Speech at the University of Connecticut, received the Ph.D. degree at the University of Indiana this summer. . . .

Ernest (Bud) Weckesser received his Ph.D. from Michigan State this summer, and accepted a position in Speech at Kent State University. . . .

Ralph Chesebrough is teaching Speech at the Detroit Institute of Technology while completing his doctorate at the University of Michigan. . . .

A. Karen Hatch (Eastern Michigan) completed her M.A. at Bowling Green and is teaching Speech at Philadelphia Bible College. . . .

Ted Windt (Texas Western), who went to Ohio State for doctoral work after completing the M.A. at Bowling Green, accepted a position in Speech at Temple University. . . .

Robert Turner (Carroll Col., Wisc.) completed his M.A. at Bowling Green and is now directing the television program at Marquette University. . . .

Ronald Burgher, who received his Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Bowling Green, is now debate coach at Rio Grande College (Ohio). . . .

Harold Cook completed his M.A. at Bowling Green and is starting doctoral work at Michigan State. . . .

Carolyn Kleiber completed her M.A. at B.G. and is now teaching Speech at Garden Grove, California, High School. . . .

Janet Yerby (Texas Western) completed the M.A. at B.G. and is teaching in El Paso. She is now Mrs. Edward Hill. . . .

Fred and Jan (Heinze) Fernandez are in Dallas, Texas, where she teaches High School Speech and he is assistant Personnel Manager for Neiman-Marcus. . . .

Both Ray Marvin and Dave Miller are completing the third year of law school. Ray is at the University of Michigan and Dave is at Ohio State University. . . .

Bob Winter (Hope College) completed the M.A. at Bowling Green and the B.D. at Yale. He is now married and is the Episcopal priest at St. Mark's Church in Riverside, Rhode Island.

* * *

William H. Bos, formerly with Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, Michigan, has a new address: Department of Speech Arts, California State College, California, Pennsylvania. He is the first Chairman of a new department. He plans to establish a new chapter of PKD there.

From the Province of Illinois—

The following significant, and, perhaps, inspiring, bits and dabs were culled from a recent University of Illinois (at Chicago, Ill., Navy Pier) Forensic Alumni Newsletter. Earl W. Kunstman '52, a consultant psychologist to the Recorder's Court in Detroit, Michigan, was honored as Alumnus-of-the-Year at the annual banquet last May. . . . S. John Insalata '54, associate legislative counsel to the National Automatic Merchandising Association of Chicago, gave an address before the Better Business Bureau of Beloit, Wisconsin. Vital Speeches of the Day has printed the speech in its May 15, 1963 issue. . . . Nick Biro '50 was promoted to Midwest Editor of Billboard. His home base is Chicago. He is responsible for news coverage at universities around the country. . . . Arnold Schneider '60 was graduated with a major in political science from the University of Illinois at Urbana and is now a criminal investigator for the Customs Bureau of the U.S. Department of the Treasury. . . . Roland Cassata '53 is now associated with the law firm of Brody and Gore with offices in the Loop. . . . Mike Hoffman '60 received a Master of Arts degree in Marketing and Management at the University of Minnesota in June, 1962. During the time of his graduate study he worked full-time for the Pillsbury Company. Mike is now an accountant manager for an advertising firm in Chicago. As a hobby he is serving as a Director of the Max Strauss Community Theatre. . . . Ed Golub '55 and his wife, the former Rosalee Roman are working for advanced degrees at the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, N.C. He is shooting for a Ph.D. and teaching bacteriology, while she is working in sociology. They live in a log cabin. . . . U.I.C. graduates who are attorneys are trying to arrange a monthly luncheon at the Chicago Bar Association, 29 South LaSalle St.

Where are the other Provinces?

Editor's Note:

There should be some "alumni copy" from each Province in each issue of The Forensic. Is this assumption wrong?

When students and/or "debaters" ask "What can I do with a major in the field of Speech?" (as liberal arts students are wont to do), show him a few copies of The Forensic. Let's make it so that any one copy will do.

The Editor Signs Off...

Well, here it is—the first issue of The Forensic under your new editor—and I present it to the membership of Pi Kappa Delta with mixed emotions. I am relieved that I was able to get together enough material for this issue (although there were times when the outcome was in doubt); and I am grateful to John Randolph for his help and encouragement, to the printer for his assistance, and to associate editors Alusow and Rau for their suggestions and material.

I hope that in the next four years you will all remember that The Forensic is something more than a bulletin board of notices of coming conventions and dry reports of conventions past—it is, and should be, a powerful voice of the membership, a vibrant and living force in our organization! But this is only possible if the individual member listens to and speaks with this voice. This means that each of you have an obligation to read the articles bearing on the conduct of forensic activities or matters concerning the policies and conduct of our organization. In addition to listening I think you bear the responsibility of answering, of denying, of agreeing or of supporting.

Only in this way—through use—can the magazine be of real value. I fear that too often people glance only at their own Chapter Notes or Alumni News without reading the sometimes provocative articles elsewhere in the magazine, and I fear that too often potentially worthwhile discussions and questions concerning the affairs of Pi Kappa Delta fail to reach the pages of The Forensic because they are not written up and sent to the editor!

So why not gladden the heart of your new editor by reading all the articles; discussing the really important ones in chapter meetings, and answering them with expressions of your particular point of view? In this way “grass roots” opinion can be brought to the attention of the National Council and the will of the membership can be focused on the problems that come up at convention after convention, only to be forgotten between conventions.

Ideally, I would envision articles that could stimulate discussion locally, followed by articles of agreement or disagreement; leading to discussions and recommendations at the Province level which would expedite policy decisions at the National Conventions. If this could be done—and YOU can make it work—I would feel that The Forensic was fulfilling an important mission for our organization! To get some discussion started I am reprinting the two following proposals made by John Randolph in the May issue for your serious consideration. How should these problems be solved?

“1. It seems to me that the adoption of some scholastic requirement is a must for the future. At the same time, Pi Kappa Delta should retain the principle of inclusiveness which has made us so strong and which has enabled us to help so many aspiring speakers. The two aims can be best achieved by keeping our present standard of eligibility, which is based upon forensic events, and by making the degree of Special Distinction open only to those students who are in the upper 35 per cent of their class, which would put Pi Kappa Delta in line with those honor organizations which strive to promote academic achievement. I know that there are difficulties of administration for a scholastic requirement; but if the honor organizations have overcome these difficulties, I see no reason why we could not do so.

2. There is unrest in our membership about the matter of representation on the National Council. What is at least a strong minority feels that an "old guard" remains too long in power and that some provinces have gone too long unrepresented on the Council. My own feeling is that the Council should be enlarged so that each of the ten provinces would be represented and that a stipulation should be inserted in the Constitution to the effect that no province should be represented by more than one person on the Council.

Such a change would not be as drastic as might be at first considered. There are now ten members of the Council: seven faculty members, two student members who serve really only during convention years, and the non-voting editor of The Forensic. I would propose the following: give the editor a vote and let him represent his province; make one student member a permanent member, elected for a full two-year term, add on more faculty representative from the host school. Such action would increase the membership of the Council by only one, yet it would give every province a representative. Moreover it would give fuller voice than we do at present to our student membership."
