The President's Page

It is a pleasure to announce that the 1969 National Convention site will be Arizona State University at Tempe, Arizona. The dates — March 31 and April 1, 2, 3, and 4, 1969. This is during the week preceding Easter of that year. Naturally definite plans have not been made regarding the specific programs as yet. Details will be worked out during the summer meeting of the Council. Preliminary plans call for registration on Monday, March 31 and to adjourn following the banquet on Friday, April 4th. Such was the opening and closing arrangement at Whitewater. In making your plans for the budgets next year, you would not be too far wrong in using the living and food costs at Whitewater as a base. We will be living off campus and the rate will not be more than $3.25 per person in the motels. The food costs, however, seem to be a bit lower at Tempe using the university food service, which should establish total costs per person to be about the same as at Whitewater. Consideration should be given to normal inflation, but the commitments are quite firm. I met with the officials of the university last August and was greeted with the greatest hospitality and cordiality. Their facilities for the convention and tournament are as fine as any we have used. The proximity of the contest rooms, eating facilities and convention headquarters will make it possible to be at any appointment with only a very short walk of not over 1½ blocks. Dr. William Stites, Forensic Director, will serve as local host and Convention Officer, serving with Georgia Bowman, Chairman of Convention Arrangements and Program. Bill Stites and his staff are quite well acquainted with our requirements and still are anxious for us to meet at Arizona State. Tempe is a suburb of Phoenix, and I am sure you would all recognize that the climate at the time of our convention is most inviting.

THEODORE O. H. KARL Pacific Lutheran University

I have just returned from the SAA Convention in Los Angeles. Six of the eight members of the Council were present. A small group of members and governors were present at our informal meeting. The most important matters stressed were the National Convention and the Province meetings of this year. One of the most important discussions was regarding Province constitutions. The Constitutional Revisions Committee has agreed to send out guidelines for such a constitution to the Governors of the Provinces. The national constitution calls for such a Province document and copies should be filed with the National Secretary-Treasurer. Some time of the Province meeting could well be given to consideration of prospective Pi Kappa Delta chapters. An institution without affiliation should be encouraged to contact the Governor and Chairman of the Charter and Standards Committee. Such an organization as Pi Kappa Delta can be an extremely important incentive to members of an enthusiastic and growing program of forensics.

The National Secretary-Treasurer reported that so far just over one hundred of the total number of the chapters have sent in the fall report. The report of membership, advisors, and supply needs, should not take over a few minutes to complete. Check to see if yours has been completed and if not, bring it to the attention of the chapter president and advisor. See to it that these reports are sent in immediately and that a copy is sent to the Governor. It is important that we know of the changes in advisors as well as the membership lists.

I am happy to announce two additional committee appointments: Ray Yeager of Bowling Green University, a past president, will head the Nominating Committee, and Clara Chilson Lee is Chairman of the Time and Place Committee and both of these committees will have information for you in early issues of The FORENSIC.

Please accept the wishes of your National Council for a very Happy New Year to all. May 1968 be a good and profitable one for you.

Salutes Illinois Delta

At Bradley University

First of a series of Salutes prepared and written by Associate Editor Frank T. Alusow to our chapters making outstanding contributions.

The Bradley Invitational Speech Tournament originated with David Meister, a member of the Illinois Delta chapter of Pi Kappa Delta. He was a senior at Bradley in 1947-48 and with Dr. Clara Mawhinney, Head of the Speech Department, the preparations were made and the first tournament was held the weekend before Thanksgiving in 1947. It has been held on that same weekend ever since. Nine colleges were represented at that first tournament. It steadily grew in size until at the eleventh meeting in 1957 there were forty-seven schools. At the twenty-first meeting in 1967, seventy-nine colleges sent more than eight hundred representatives.

The tournament was designed to meet the need for an early season assembly where schools could bring an unlimited number of students to try out their speech talent in a variety of events from Debate to Folktale Telling. (It wasn't long before it ceased to be the earliest tournament of the year.)

A few changes have been made during the years. Folktale Telling was changed to Oral Interpretation in 1956. Television Speaking was added in 1956 and dropped in 1958. Listening was added in 1957. The number of debate rounds was increased from four to five at the request of the visiting schools. The most recent change was the separation of debate into three divisions: cross-examination, varsity, and novice. So today there are these three divisions of debate, discussion, oratory, extempore speaking, after dinner speaking, oral interpretation, radio newscasting, and listening.

Larry Norton and Roger Nebergall directed the tournament for several years beginning in 1948 and then Henry Vander Heyden assumed the position of tournament director. The efficient organization of the tournament today is largely the result of his ability to coordinate the efforts of the entire Speech faculty, the speech majors, and the members of the University faculty and administration.

Critic evaluators, who are national authorities in their field, have been brought to the tournament to help establish criteria and raise the standards of judgment in debate, discussion, and oral interpretation.

Bradley speech alumni have returned each year as judges and coaches of forensic programs at other schools to renew acquaintances and join in the total effort.

Speech faculty and speech majors work together for many days in a close and cooperative relationship which has been a major factor in developing good departmental morale.

The use of a hundred faculty and community judges provides a healthy town-gown relationship achieved through working together on the big event of the year. All judges receive copies of the results with a letter of appreciation after the tournament is over. Three to four hundred students serving as timekeepers and chairmen of events achieve two important tournament goals: a) provide timing assistance for more than six hundred debates and sections of individual events, and b) provide the Bradley students with an insight into competitive speech activity which they would never achieve otherwise.
