

Prof. McClain.

Prof. Fred McClain, who succeeds Dr Cornelius is a graduate of the University of Ill. electrical engineering department, and for the last two years has been employed as an expert by the General Electrical Company. During most of this time he has been supervising the erection and construction of city electric light plants.

He has had both practical and theoretical training in all the different lines of electrical engineering and will make a strong addition to the Ottawa University faculty. Prof. McClain came to Ottawa in spite of all kind of special inducements offered him by the General Electric people people who were determined to retain him in their employ. He did not begin his duties until a week after school commenced, as he was unable to reach Ottawa in time.
