

O. U. Keeps Hold on Top

Presbies Gave Braves a Battle; Score 21 to 6

A smoothly working Ottawa University football team last night scored a 21 to 6 victory over an inspired College of Emporia team on Cook field. True to predictions, the Presbies made a comeback and played one of their best games of the year. Even so they could not stop the goalward thrusts of the Braves.

The victory, scored with touchdowns in each of the last three quarters, left the Ottawans in possession of first place in the Kansas conference. They risk that lead next week against the Baker Wildcats on Cook field, Friday afternoon. The Baldwinites cut down C of E., to the tune of 45 to 6 a few weeks ago.

Much of the credit for the Ottawa victory can go to Lyman Morgan whose running, field generalship and forward passing was at its peak. The senior halfback scored the first counter for his team with a brilliant 18-yard run and passed to big Omer Brenton for another.

Not too much can be said for the courage of the Emporia team. After having suffered a severe reverse last week and with several regulars on the sidelines because of injuries, the Presbies came onto the field with fire and determination. They went off the same way just after marching 70 yards to score a touchdown on the last play of the game. Anyone who thinks that "C. of E. Fights" sign on the water tower at the school should be taken down has another course in logic to follow after last night's affair.

The first quarter was a nip and tuck affair with neither team holding much of an advantage. Shortly after the second quarter opened, Walter Reames intercepted an Emporia pass on the 50 and raced down to the Presby 42 before being hauled down. A couple of penalties were charged, five yards against each team, and Morgan picked up five through tackle. Then the touchdown was set-up when Morgan fired a 17-yard aerial to George Von Arb who was downed on the 20. A running play picked up two. Then Morgan exploded another pass and it hit its mark, that being Larry Smith who jaunted over the goal line, but the referee brought a groan to the fans by calling the play back, both teams being off-side. But the determined Morgan wanted to score from that spot, so on the next play he tucked the ball under his arm, went through tackle and cut back to run 18 yards for the first Ottawa score. Von Arb kicked the extra point.

That meant nothing, however, to those inspired Presbyterians. They took the ball on their own 34-yard line and moved right down the field with a choice assortment of spinners and reverses. Bud Larson, the highlight of the Emporia backfield, led the way but got plenty of assistance from Brecht, Wissler and Haskell. They gained a first down on the Ottawa 12-yard line, but at that point the Brave forward wall took matters into its own hands and yielded only nine of the necessary yards, Ottawa taking the ball on the three-yard line. The last attempt by Emporia was one of those super tries against just as super a defense. Needing only one scant yard to make a first down, Haskell jammed at the middle of the Ottawa line. Seeing no hole, he went into the air, but there he was met by three leaping Braves. Freshman Dean Norris then got off a nice punt which traveled to mid-field and took Ottawa out of danger.

The second Ottawa score made just as the third quarter ended, was well earned. The Presbies came back from the rest period to gain about 50 yards in two series of plays and cause wonderment in the Ottawa camp. But when one of those drives bogged down on the Emporia 45-yard line, the Ottawa line boomed through to block Larson's punt, Larry Smith recovering on the Emporia 31. Jack O'Neal went around end on a lateral for 13 yards to carry the ball to the 18, but an offside penalty put it back on the 23. Then Morgan ripped off eight yards, and his pass to O'Neal was good for ten yards and a first down on the five. Then a reverse got messed up, O'Neal losing ten yards back to the 15. A pass was incomplete, but Morgan dropped back and tossed a diagonal pass to Omer Brenton for the second touchdown. Wine Park Shepherd booted the extra point.

The third and last Ottawa touchdown was the result of a straight march down the field on short running plays by Dean Norris, Jay Jameson and Jack O'Neal. Ottawa gained possession on the mid-field stripe and bore down relentlessly on the goal line, a ten-yard skirt around end setting the stage for the score from the five. Jameson crashed to the two, and from there Norris plunged through for the score.

C. of E. set to work immediately afterwards about the business of getting itself a nice slice of the glory, if not the game. Taking the ball on their own 30-yard line, the Presbies moved 70 yards to score on the next to the last play of the battle. Big Larson, Brecht and Haskell were the engineers of the determined and capable drive on the part of the Presby team. On spinners, reverses and a 21-yard pass from Larson to Haskell they went down to the one-yard line from where Mr. Larson himself plunged the ball across.

Certainly it was not a weak-kneed Emporia team which last night took the field against Ottawa, for those Presbies kept piling to spill plays all evening. The fact that the lone touchdown was scored after Ottawa was leading 21 to 0, is an indication of their relentlessness.

Ottawa still holds to the conference lead with four wins, no defeats and one tie. Next week, however, they meet the formidable Baker Wildcats which have been surging up in a smashing manner in recent weeks. It will be the last game for Ottawa, but Baker will still have one more.

Jack Ramsey, star Ottawa ball lugger, was in the game for only one play, but that was enough for him to get hurt and be pulled out to sit the rest of the evening on the bench. The extent of the injury was not known today and probably would not be until Monday.

New Weaver Piece At Faculty Recital

One of the feature numbers to be played at the Ottawa University music faculty recital, tomorrow evening at 8:15 in First Baptist church, will be "Sonata in B Minor for Violin and Organ". It is of more than passing interest, because Powell Weaver, head of the O. U. music school, composed it.

The number was written in 1935 and played for the first time by Mr. Weaver and the Kansas City philharmonic orchestra the year following. Tomorrow evening Mr. Weaver and Everett Fetter, university violinist, will play the sonata. This is the second time that it has been played publicly and it will be done from manuscript. After this performance, Mr. Weaver plans to send the music to a publishing company for possible publication. That, however, would not be the first music which Weaver has made available to the public. More than a dozen of his works have been published by national concerns.

In answer to questions as to the inspiration for the sonata, the composer said that he wrote the music while at his boyhood home in Pennsylvania the summer of 1935. He knew of no particular emotion which caused him to write it, other than that he wanted to write a classical number.

Mr. Weaver will appear in two groups of numbers on the program as will Mr. Fetter and Edgar Kerr, baritone. There is no admission to be charged and the public is invited to attend.

Ottawa Fans Still Don't Like Baker-O. U. Game In Afternoon

Ottawa football fans are still perturbed over the playing of the Ottawa university-Baker game here Friday afternoon instead of at night. The Kansas conference championship hinges on this game, adding lustre to its already great importance as a battle between traditional foes. No one in Ottawa wants to miss the game, yet many who hold season tickets as well as others will have to miss it because they can't get away from work.

The game was scheduled for 2:30 in the afternoon partly because it was believed the weather would be too cold by November 17 for a night game, and partly because Baker University officials preferred the afternoon game. So far there have been few nights which have been so cold as to be uncomfortable for a game, and local fans have asked several times that the time of the game be changed.

Ottawa University and Kansas Wesleyan played a scoreless tie earlier in the season and Saturday Baker and Wesleyan played a 7 to 7 tie, pointing to one of the best games of the season here Friday afternoon, with the traditional rivalry between the schools adding much to the contest. An O. U. victory or tie would give Ottawa first place in the conference again this year.

Many from Ottawa were in the crowd which saw the Baker-Wesleyan game Saturday and looked over the stone grandstand, built mostly by student labor, wondering why some plan could not be worked out here to provide a permanent concrete grandstand for Cook field to take the place of the old wooden stands.

GAMES THIS WEEK

Thursday — McPherson at Kansas Wesleyan.

Friday — Baker at Ottawa; Bethany at College of Emporia; Bethel at Oklahoma Panhandle A. & M.

RESULTS LAST WEEK

Baker 7; Kansas Wesleyan 7.
Ottawa 21; College of Emporia 6.
Bethany 13; Bethel 6.
McPherson 12; Southwestern 7.

Ottawa University Braves are now assured of at least a tie for the championship of the Kansas conference. Even if they lose to Baker on Cook field Friday afternoon, they will still have a share in the title. If they win or tie, they will have undisputed possession of first place. Otherwise, Baker and Bethany may be able to tie them. Kansas Wesleyan is out of it as a result of the tie game with Baker last week.

A glance at the dope sheet figures the game to be very much of a toss-up. The Baker fans will point to scores which indicate the Wildcats are the better, while Ottawa fans point to results which show the Braves as tops. A glance at the scores made by both teams against the same foes will give every fan a chance to line up on which ever side of the fence seems to be the safest:

Ottawa 7; Bethany 2.
Baker 0; Bethany 6.
Ottawa 33; McPherson 0.

Baker 28; McPherson 21.

Ottawa 0; Wesleyan 0.

Baker 7; Wesleyan 7.

Ottawa 20; College of Emporia 6.

Baker 45; College of Emporia 6.

Ottawa 21; William Jewell 13.

Baker 20; William Jewell 7.

Thus the fan will be able to make his own choice, but he better be careful because the outcome is problematical to say the least. Either team might have a good day and win by a comfortable margin; then again it might be a close battle. Even a tie could result.

The Braves themselves are saying nothing. They are only going about their business in a customary manner. Most of the week will be spent in touching up all parts of their play, especially checking up weak spots revealed in the game with College of Emporia, last Friday.

Jack Ramsey, Ottawa halfback, sustained a slight arm injury in the Emporia game, but will be able to play against Baker barring accidents this week in practice. Except for minor bruises, the rest of the team came through the Presby scrap in good shape.

The game will start at 2:30. At least 100 additional reserved seats will be available for those who will not be able to reach the field until about game time. There will be no increase in prices, the general admission being $1 and the reserved seat admission $1.25. The pasteboards will be on sale at the Wassmer clothing store and the North American coffee shop.

O. U. Team Calm, Awaiting Baker

Triple-Threat Hodges Feared in Friday's Game

Here it is again. It seems that almost every year these two long-time rivals of the gridiron, Ottawa and Baker universities, are coming up to their traditional football game with some part of the Kansas conference championship hinged to the affair.

Dope does not mean much when these teams get together, and it probably will not mean much Friday afternoon at 2:30 when the Wildcats and Braves go at each other on Cook field. Yesterday the Ottawa campus was not the least excited, but as the week goes on the general enthusiasm will rise until on the afternoon it will be at fever height.

During the crush of excitement the Braves hope to keep calm and thus far seem to be doing a right fair job. Not that they are overconfident, Baker's good record prevents that, but they know that their own record is right fair this season. To a man they believe that Friday's game will be a hard-fought and hotly contested battle and that O. U. has an equal chance to win.

The Braves have heard much about Marvin "Sailor Boy" Hodges, crack triple-threat man on the Wildcat squad. And, no kidding, he is more than fair. Downright good is the word. He kicks, runs and passes with plenty of ability and punch. His punts have probably averaged around 40 yards. His running is hard and shifty, showing ability to weave through jammed areas with a lot of stuff. He is a button-hitter when passing, especially when that great Baker end, Michaels, is on the receiving side. It is no wonder that at Baker the experts are calling this fellow Hodges another Kermit Lange, one of the greatest backs the Baldwin school has turned out. A player has to be mighty capable to be mentioned in the same sentence with the great Lange.

Possibly much of the work the Ottawans do this week will be in planning a defense against the running, passing and kicking of Hodges. That does not mean that the Baker team does not have some other good backs. They do in Sloop, Fronaberger and a half dozen others, but the sailor boy is the big star.

O. U.-B. U. Game Can't Be Changed

Must Be Played at 2:30 Friday Afternoon

A conference between officials of Ottawa and Baker universities this morning resulted in keeping the starting time of the annual football game here at the time originally scheduled, 2:30, Friday afternoon. An agreement on student admission was also reached whereby Baker students will pay 50 cents this year and Ottawa students will pay the same at Baldwin next year.

Coach Dick Godlove, bowing to the desire of home town fans that the game be changed to the evening, and in view of the good weather of the week, made the trip to Baldwin with the proposal that the game be changed. Baker officials, however, thought it best not to make the change at this time, preferring to play the game as scheduled.

The Chamber of Commerce at its meeting today moved to present a resolution to the university asking that the game in the future be played on Armistice or Thanksgiving day so that the conflict of afternoon or evening would not again come into the picture. Coach Godlove said early this afternoon that the matter would certainly be given careful attention.

The disagreement on student admission price arose last fall when Baker officials departed from the practice of charging a low admission to students by raising the price. Following the course thus established last year, O. U. officials first announced that Baker students would be required to pay regular admission prices. The truce arrived at today was gleefully received by students of both schools.

While some stores and shops may be closed for the game, the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring no general closing.

O. U. FACULTY RECITAL TONIGHT

Members of the Ottawa University school of music faculty will be heard in a recital tonight at 8:15 in First Baptist church. Powell Weaver, Edgar Kerr and Everett Fetter will appear on the program which is open to the public.

This is the first major musical event of the university season and the fact that it is being presented by the faculty members themselves gives it added importance. Of high interest on the program will be the "Sonata for Violin and Organ," a composition by Mr. Weaver which he and Mr. Fetter will play.

Mr. Kerr, baritone, will sing two groups of numbers and Mr. Fetter will play a group of violin solos. The accompanists will be Mrs. Kerr and Miss Frances Gentry.

O. U. Reception

Ottawa University faculty members entertained Ottawa public school faculty members and wives at a reception last evening in Tany Jones hall. Members of the high school staff came at 8 o'clock and those of the grade school staff and members of the board of education came at 8:30 o'clock. While the guests were arriving a string trio of college girls, Misses Jeanne Crites, Darlene Harpold and Marjorie Kindall, played softly. Two solos by Mrs. Anita Aurelio Gonzaga, several numbers by the choir, and a brief welcome by President Andrew B. Martin, composed a short program. Refreshments of wassail and cookies were served from a table at which Mrs. Evan A. Reiff and Mrs. F. A. Trump presided. Miss Minnie Maude Macaulay was chairman of the arrangements committee. She was assisted by Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Maude Goll, Miss Virginia Richard and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barker. There were one hundred and fifty persons present.

Braves Work on Time Tried Plays

Unwilling to Concede An Edge to Baker

With interest in the Ottawa University-Baker University game increasing hourly, the O. U. players become increasingly calm and concentrate on the problem of stopping the high-geared Baker offensive which has run up some big scores in the present season. The game, starting at 2:30 Friday afternoon, will be attended by a large number of out-of-townners if present weather conditions hold.

A large number of fans from Leavenworth, a town which has players on each team, will be here to cheer. Other towns will also be represented and a good many parents are expected to be present to watch their sons perform.

The Braves worked late last night, apparently going through the same procedure as has been followed before each game this year. If Ottawa tries anything new or tricky, it is a deep, dark secret and has not been tried in practice. "It is not so much what plays we use," Coach has often said, "but the manner in which we execute them."

The Baker line, punctured consistently by any conference touchdown this season, have scored but the turned by breaks touchdown victory scored, for instance, the result of an interception.

The Baker line has not been punctured consistently enough for any conference team to score a touchdown this season. Several have scored but the trick has been turned by breaks mostly. The touchdown victory which Bethany scored, for instance, was the result of an intercepted pass.

The surge of the Baker team has given it a quick rise to favoritism, and as a result some of the more expert fans give the Wildcats the edge. The Braves themselves do not concede the point and believe that everything in the dope points to a close game. That is probably right, although either team, getting red hot, could have a big afternoon.

The Ottawa fans cannot quite see how the big gun of the Wildcat team, Marvin Hodges, can be stopped. The triple-threatener has much to offer and will probably be doling it out in huge quantities. Sloop, Fronaberger and others will give him plenty of assistance.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Wassmer clothing store and the North American coffee shop.

BAKER COLORS ON DOME INSIDE JOB?

The dome of Taub Jones hall at Ottawa University was splashed last night with black and orange paint, colors of Baker University. The activity, brought on by the forthcoming Baker-Ottawa football game to be played on Cook field, Friday afternoon, was thought by O. U. officials to have been an inside job. An investigation is being made.

Seven Seniors In Final Game

Both Teams Ready for Annual O. U.-Baker Tilt

With interest among fans growing by leaps and bounds, the day of the annual Ottawa University-Baker University grid classic is right at hand. Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 these teams will toe the lines of Cook field and go at each other as only two ancient foes can. Neither is giving the other any advantage at least before the game gets under way, and battle will be the order of the day right down to the final whistle.

Coach Dick Godlove has not yet announced his starting lineup, but possibly it will include seven seniors who will be playing their final games for Ottawa—George Von Arb and Omer Brenton at ends, Leonard Hofstra at tackle, Kenny Hough and Elvis Berger at guards, and Lyman Morgan and Oliver Smith in the backfield. All are completing their fourth year of competition, finishing gridiron careers in which they have not only been durable performers but good fellows to have around, says Coach Godlove. The other four starters will be Jack O'Neal and Walter Reames in the backfield, Harry Trigg at tackle, and Mike Miller at center.

The Baker line which has not yet been successfully dented by a conference team will be made up of seven top-flight players. The ends will be Fred Dreyer and Leon Michael, the latter the hard-to-move player who caught so many long passes against Wesleyan last year. The tackles will be Don Hough and Joe Cleavinger. Hough, a cousin of Ottawa's Kenny, used to play in the Ottawa backfield. He has been a Rock of Gibraltar this fall. The guards will be a pair of fighters, Bill Scruby and Larry Timmons. Playing the center of the line with Center Harlan Lanter, they make a concrete wall for offensive thrusts to hit. Lanter, formerly of K. U., is one of the stars of the team.

The Baker starting backfield will include Karl Kramer, a freshman who last year was one of the best high school backs in the state while playing with Olathe. This year he has carried on the same superior style and has improved with every game. Triple-threatener

Marvin Hodges, Charles Sloop, big Lyndon powerhouse, and capable Delmar Fronaberger will be the other three backs.

The game will be well handled by three competent gridiron officials: E. A. Thomas, Dwight Ream and Gene Kemper.

So with the teams ready, the officials ready, Coaches Dick Godlove and C. W. Ridgway ready, and the fans ready, there bids fair to be a great football game on Cook field tomorrow afternoon.

Godlove is advising fans to purchase tickets before coming to the gate. They may be had at the Wassmer clothing store or North American coffee shop.

Paint B. U. Colors On O. U. Campus

Ottawa University was painted up last night by non-skillful artists. Not too much paint was spread around, but by a strange coincidence it was in the colors of Baker University, black and orange. The fact that the annual traditional gridiron game comes off tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 on Cook field removes mystery from the deed. Ottawa officials are prepared to say that the vandalism was committed by Baker students, or, perhaps, by Ottawa students or Ottawa townspeople just to stir up a little interest. Whatever the case, the paint, smeared on the walks leading to Ward science hall, is mighty hard to clean off, say the freshmen.

O. U. And B. U. In Battle For Conference Title

Braves Will Tie for Football Honors, or Have A Clear Claim Today

Out on Cook field this afternoon there is going on one of those traditional football games between Ottawa and Baker universities. And there is something more than tradition at stake. The championship of the Kansas conference hinges on the outcome. Ottawa, with a share in the crown already assured, can win a clear title by getting a victory or tie today. Baker must win to get a share in the championship. If Baker wins, Bethany will also have a chance to tie for the top honors.

The dull, misty day was not a particular boon to the crowd. Coach Dick Godlove said this morning that if the rainfall was no heavier than it had been, the field would be in fine shape. Long before 2 o'clock the crowd began filing into the field in order to

Ottawa, Baker Renew Old Grid Rivalry

Ottawa, Kan., Nov. 14.—(Special)—Ever since 1909, the annual gridiron clash between Baker and Ottawa universities has been the football classic of this particular section of the state. When the two old enemies meet in Ottawa Friday afternoon, that interest will not only reach its par but will go beyond. For this year the championship of the Kansas Conference hinges on the outcome of this traditional game. Ottawa, now in the lead, can acquire a clear title by winning or tying. Baker in order to tie for the top honors, must win. In case of a Baker victory, Bethany will have a chance to share in the first place honors.

With the interest thus keyed to high pitch, the largest Ottawa crowd of the season is expected to be present when the game gets under way. Coach Dick Godlove is making special arrangements to take care of the big crowd.

The dope figures the two teams to be about even. Either squad by having a hot afternoon could win by a comfortable margin. Then again, the battle could be close, a tie being a plausible prediction. Take the figures anyway a fan may please, it still results in a forthcoming battle royal with each giving its all not only for the sake of tradition but to share in the conference crown.

It was thought for a while that Jack Ramsey, junior Ottawa back, would be out of the game due to an injury received in the College of Emporia game. It developed, however, that the injury was only slight; so the Ottawa ace will be ready to go against Baker. The news brought a ray of hope to the Ottawa fans as they feel the team needs something to balance the power which Baker has in Marvin "Sailor Boy" Hodges, triple threatener from Gardner.

Braves Retain Football Title

Outplayed' Determined Baker Team in Last Game

Performing like the champions they are, the Ottawa University Braves swamped their traditional foe, Baker University, on Cook field yesterday afternoon to the fan-satisfying tune of 17 to 0. The victory gave O. U. its second consecutive football championship and the sixth straight major sports title under the guidance of Coach Dick Godlove.

BRAVES TOOK BREAKS

It was no easy task, for the Baker Wildcats put up a game stand throughout and unleashed a hard-running and clicking passing attack. But when the going got tough, the Ottawa defense tightened and held off the enemy. The Braves went out, made most of their own breaks and converted almost every drive they started into points for the scoreboard. Just any sniff of pay dirt added fire to the Ottawa attack.

That scoring punch was put to use before the echo of the first whistle had bounced off the wall of 2,000 people who witnessed the game under the heavy glowering clouds. The first outburst found Ottawa taking to the airways, a method of scoring which they have used very little this season. Jack Ramsey took an accurate pass from Lyman Morgan to dash across the goal line. The other two Ottawa scores, a neat place-kick by George Von Arb and a touch-down by Walter Reames, came as a result of wide-awake playing.

BAFFLED WILDCATS

Baker's Wildcats were probably somewhat crossed up by the offensive methods adopted by the Braves. As a matter of fact, the fans were also fooled, not knowing that Ottawa had such a good passer in Morgan. The Braves got possession of the pigskin in mid-field, on their own 49, by recovering a fumbled Baker lateral pass at that spot. Morgan started out in orthodox Ottawa fashion by going off tackle for four yards. Then he stepped back and shot a pass to Von Arb in the left flat and that senior end went on down to the 35-yard line before being downed. Here Jack Ramsey came into the game and Baker eyed the Ottawa runner, but not too much to nail Walter Reames who gained only a yard against the tough Baker line. On the next play, with the ball going into play from the 34, Ramsey went deep to the right and Morgan tossed another of those deadly passes over the head of a defensive Baker halfback. It landed smack into the arms of Ramsey and he sped away for 20 yards and the first Ottawa score. He went over standing up without a hand touching him. Von Arb made a perfect placement kick for the extra point to give Ottawa the lead, 7 to 0.

LINE BATTLED FOES

From there on out, the outcome was seldom in doubt, because a great Ottawa front line, led by as good a tackle as ever graced a Kansas conference gridiron, big Leonard Hofstra, bottled up the Baker offense, especially at crucial times. Hofstra was not alone, for working along with him was Kenny Hough, playing his last game as was Hofstra, and making it a tough afternoon for Baker backs. George Von Arb, another senior, also did a great job of charging, especially in going down under punts. The speed of the wind is what he had yesterday afternoon.

The Ottawa place-kick for three points came shortly after a heart-breaking miscue on the part of Baker. Failing to gain after taking the ball on Ottawa's kickoff, Marvin "Sailor" Hodges stepped back to punt on fourth down, but Center Harlan Lanter made a bad pass and the ball went past Hodges and became Ottawa's on the Baker 6. The Wildcats were not beaten down, however, and when Ottawa failed to take the ball across on fourth down, Hodges kicked it out to the Wildcat 49, a whale of a boot. But on the next play, Ramsey went around right end for 36 yards.

Again the Baker line held solidly. On the fourth down with the ball on the 11, Von Arb dropped back and sent a perfect place-kick from the 18-yard line to give Ottawa a 10 to 0 lead. The kick was made from the side, a difficult angle.

HODGES A REAL PASSER

That was all of the scoring for the first half. But near the end Baker, with Hodges throwing, made a determined effort. The period ended, though, with the ball on the Ottawa 27. After that exhibition of throwing, no one can say that the Sailor cannot toss the ball accurately. He probably would have done a much better job had it not been for the hard charging Ottawa line which hurried him on every pitch.

LON RUN BY REAMES

Walter Reames, the Ottawa blond who was converted from a tackle to a fullback in mid-season, paved the way for the second touchdown which was made near the end of the third quarter. He intercepted one of Hodges' pitches on the Braves' 40 and sped down to the Baker 12 before being dropped. He was aided by good blocking and added a lot of speed and deceptive running to the thrilling play which was pulled off directly in front of the west side bleachers. The charging fullback then smashed for four yards, Ramsey smashed for three yards followed by another crack for four to take the ball to the Baker 1 where it was first down. Reames needed only one try. He literally catapulted through the Baker line for the touchdown. Von Arb closed his football career with a perfect booting day by kicking the extra point.

BAKER PEPPED UP

Reames' touchdown ended the scoring but not the game because there was many a thrill left for the fans. Baker made a determined effort to chalk up a score, being directed in the efforts by the driving work of Cliff Long and Clarence Broadfoot, two substitute backs. They smashed down to the 4-yard line, but there the Ottawa front wall put up a stubborn defense and the Braves took the ball on down again and got to the 24 where Ot downs.

Right there occurred thrillers for the first play, Ramsey and the ball safety's head. He it but was downed immediately on the Baker

Right there occurred one of the thrillers for the Ottawa fans. On the first play, Ramsey quick-kicked and the ball went over the safety's head. He finally retrieved it but was downed almost immediately on the Baker 24.

NEAR GOAL AT FINISH

There was a highlight even at the end of the game. Bob Wilson, substitute Ottawa back, intercepted a Baker pass and ran it back 50 yards before he was trapped on the 5. The boys hurried but they could get only one play off to put the ball on the 2-yard line as the game ended.

You could say a lot about the heroic work of many Ottawa players. There was old reliable Oliver "Puck" Smith who played a bang-up game calling signals, blocking, and knocking down Baker passes. It was his last game. It was the last, too for tall Omer Brenton, who did a lot of nice work in there. Elvis Berger, playing part of the game at guard, also performed notably in his last stand. There were others: Mike Miller playing center on an injured ankle but doing a remarkable job of it; Jack O'Neal getting away some nice runs; Freshman Dean Norris fighting and driving hard; Tackles Jack Jeffries and Russell Knotz, capable men for next year; tough Harry Trigg at center; and not the least, that big and good end, Larry Smith; Burton Cowan, another end also playing a bang-up game; and Jay Jameson, a cracking good freshman fullback.

It was a great day for the Braves. They beat a good Baker team and kept their conference crown.

Congratulations, Braves!

In approved storybook fashion, Ottawa University defeated its old rival, Baker University in football yesterday afternoon. The plot was perfect. The title in the Kansas conference hinged on the game, and along with Ottawa's victory went that title. The hero? Every player on the Braves team was a hero.

Congratulations are due Coach Dick Godlove, all of his squad, and an administration which rates clean, first class athletics as an essential in a program that means progress for the school. Friends of Ottawa University are pleased that in the campaign to raise the standards and efficiency of teaching of curricular studies, the part athletics plays in the program has not been overlooked.

Grid. Trophy To O. U.—After the Ottawa-Baker football game yesterday afternoon, the annual ceremony of presenting the victor with the Indian and Wildcat trophies was held. The two bands marched to the center of the field, played the Baker school song, and then the trophies were presented to Captain Leonard Hofstra. The large crowd remained in the bleachers to witness the impressive ceremony. At the half, the Ottawa band drilled to entertain the crowd with music and marching.

O. U. Choir at First Baptist

Making the first public appearance of the year, the Ottawa University choir will open its season with a concert tomorrow evening at 7:30 at First Baptist church. Director Edgar D. Kerr said that the full choir of 50 or more voices will participate in the program.

Anita Aurelio Gonzaga, student in O. U. from the Philippines, who has won the hearts of music lovers in Ottawa with her golden voice, will sing a special group of solos. It will be one of the last appearances for the pretty little singer as she will complete her work at the university at the end of the present semester and return to her home. Mrs. Gonzaga's husband is a physician in the Islands.

New songs and new faces will greet the audience tomorrow evening as they listen to the choir. Mr. Kerr believes that he has many fine new voices to add to the long list of experienced singers which are again working with the organization.

Late next winter, the choir will take another long trip through the state appearing in 15 to 20 towns on an 8-day tour such as has been taken in two previous years. The itinerary of the singers has not yet been mapped.

O. U. COLECTED RAIN INSURANCE

Ottawa University will collect rain insurance on its game played with Baker University on Cook field yesterday afternoon. Business Manager Robert Bundy of O. U. said that he did not know how much would be collected but estimated that it would be around $200. The game was insured for $500 above the season ticket sales. Ottawa was thus a winner all around because the football team won its game, 17 to 0.

Only a trace of rain fell during the day, enough to make insurance collectable, but not enough to make the playing field heavy, and none fell during the game.

Five Crowns to O. U. in Two Years

Godlove's Men Tied for Sixth; Unusual Record

While athletes of other schools are still pounding away for championships, the Ottawa University Braves are putting away their football suits in mothballs and relaxing a bit to ponder over the success which their teams have had in the last two years, 1938 and 1939. In the hectic Kansas conference grid race now drawing to a close, they won the championship with five victories and only a tie to mar the record. But that is only half the story, for in the 2-year period the Ottawans won clear titles to five of the six major sports crowns of the conference and tied for the sixth.

The unusual record started with the 1938 basketball season, the Braves finishing in a tie with Kansas Wesleyan and McPherson for top honors. In the spring which followed they stepped up their pace and captured the track and field championship. The fall of that year saw the Braves reaching a peak. Their football team went undefeated and untied through an 8-game schedule to win the conference crown in a lopsided. That was fair success, but Coach Godlove and his Braves were not yet satisfied.

They started 1939 off by winning a clear title to the conference basketball championship. Furthermore they continued their hot pace by winning the spring track and field honors of the loop. This fall, it seemed that a new football champion might come up in the conference, but the Braves would not have it so. They came through the season with six games won, one lost and one tied. The loss was outside the conference, so only a tie made a raffle in the record.

That string of six championships never before has been matched by a conference member, and may never be—by Ottawa or any other school. But right now the Braves have it safely tucked away, a prized possession to parade before oncoming generations of athletes.

The gridiron record this year saw a flailing Ottawa team lose its first encounter, that to Chadron, Neb., Teachers, by the smallest of margins, 6 to 7. The Braves came back, however, and went through the rest of the schedule undefeated and tied only by a rugged Kansas Wesleyan team. The season's record:

|--------|----|--------------------|----|
| Ottawa | 6 | Chadron Teachers | 7 |
| " | 33 | McPherson | 0 |
| " | 20 | William Jewell | 13 |
| " | 0 | Kansas Wesleyan | 0 |
| " | 13 | Bethel | 6 |
| " | 7 | Bethany | 2 |
| " | 21 | College of Emporia | 6 |
| " | 17 | Baker | 0 |

Total—Ottawa 117; opponents 34.

The football and basketball records of the last two years:

| Football— | | Won Lost Tied | | |
|-------------|----|---------------|---|--|
| 1938 | 8 | 0 | 0 | |
| 1939 | 6 | 1 | 1 | |
| Basketball— | | Won Lost Tied | | |
| 1938 | 11 | 7 | 0 | |
| 1939 | 15 | 4 | 0 | |

In the four years in which Godlove has coached the Braves, they have won 22 football games, lost 7, and tied 3. In the last three, they have won 19, lost 3, and tied 1.

In the three basketball seasons, his teams have won 38 and lost 19.

The Braves and Godlove have no secret of success. "We work hard and play each contest as it comes up. We have a policy of concentrating on the next team coming up on the schedule and try not worry about games two, three or more weeks ahead," is the way the coach puts it.

The notable record has not been easy, say the Braves, because conference teams have put up sterling opposition in almost every contest causing the Ottawans to go the limit to win.

Right now, the Braves are taking it easy before starting basketball practice. What the forthcoming season holds in store, no one even guesses. But one thing is certain, the Braves will have their eyes on the next game and not on the crown. If they plow through the opposition, which this year will be considerable, they will wear the crown with the grace of experience, the kind that comes with winning six out of six.

Busy Week-end for O. U. Musicians

Ottawa University musicians are looking toward a busy week-end. The band under direction of Everett Fetter will present concerts Thursday and Friday evenings at the Plaza theatre, and on Sunday afternoon the choir and other musicians will present a Christmas vesper program at First Baptist church.

The band program will be a variety show featuring several acts in addition to the band numbers. The organization will receive a percentage of all tickets its members sell, the proceeds to go into the uniform fund. Prof. Fetter hopes to be able to raise enough money to buy additional outfitings for the players. The band has about 36 members and only 25 uniforms. Loren Noren, student drum major of the players, believes that the band is one of the best ever to be organized at O. U.

The Christmas vesper program is a custom of 18 years in Ottawa. Following tradition, the choir will sing parts of "The Messiah", although this section of the program will not be so long as in other years. Three popular student soloists will be heard in "Messiah" numbers: Anita Aurelio Gonzaga, Miriam Kinderdick and Joy Balyeat.

Ottawa Played K. U. 6 to 6 Back in '94

Clipping From Ottawa Newspaper Tells Story

W. G. Ransom has a clipping from an Ottawa newspaper which describes the football game between Ottawa University and K. U. in 1894 which ended in a 6 to 6 tie. The article follows:

With a score of 6 to 6 and with the ball well into K. U. territory, ended the most exciting game of football in the history of western athletics. Fifteen hundred perspiring enthusiasts, hoarse with long continued cheering, wend their way homeward and the second game between K. U. and Ottawa has ended in a tie.

The game was a beauty. Barring the unfortunate fumbling of the ball, it was one of the most scientific games ever played east of Chicago. The teamwork of both elevens was superb, but that of Kansas University showed better training. In individual work, Ottawa outclassed, with one or two possible exceptions, every man on the field. In the description of the game, the plays made seem to be the work of a few men, but as a whole every man did his work without shirking. Hamill, Potter and Taylor did the best work for Ottawa, but Austin, Moon and Tuomey held their own against K. U.'s best men. As football generals, "Kid" Allen and little Williamson proved themselves cool and level headed in the presence of both defeat and victory; it would be hard to discriminate between their work Saturday. Cowan, the famous Princeton player, was an immense advantage to the K. U. team, and really did most of their heavy work, being put forward in every tight place.

It is a little after three when the men line up with set faces. Taylor claps his hands warningly, runs forward, kicks, and the bright pigskin is sailing down the field toward the K. U. goal. It is caught cleverly, however, and 20 yards of the distance lost is made by K. U. before the runner is downed. Massing their men, K. U. bucks the line steadily down the field and each Ottawa face lengthens as Piatt and Cowan break through for repeated gains. Hope begins again when K. U. fumbles and "Shorty" Hamill gets the ball. The game is now hot, the players thoroughly warmed up, and each side commences slugging a little. The men stand back and throw themselves against each other with a thud that smacks of broken bones. Men are laid out with astonishing regularity and as quickly resuscitated and laced in the line again. K. U. suffers far more than her opponents in that respect, Shellenbarger, Piatt and Griffiths being special marks for the interpositions of Providence assisted by the strong arms of the Ottawa football men. K. U. gets the ball again and Shellenbarger makes a clever dodge and gains ten yards. Cowan goes through the line for another five, but Armour drops the ball and it is in Ottawa hands again. Another fumble and it is Piatt who bursts through and manages to drop on the ball just ahead of Potter, and the men lie and struggle for the possession of the coveted sphere. K. U. gets it and nearly loses it when Wilson fumbles, but their plucky little quarterback, Williamson, is there and rises with bleeding mouth and streaming nose, but the ball is his.

The crowd is thoroughly warmed up and the signals can hardly be heard. Vain appeals are made for quiet, but the blood of generations of Anglo-Saxons is flowing at an unwonted pace. Men may cry peace, but there is no peace.

Austin breaks through and Ottawa has the ball. For the first time Potter has a chance to run, and sweeping around his field, dodging here, cleverly interfered for there, the plucky little half flies down the field and K. U. students groan as the flying runner makes yard after yard of a clear advance. With a clever twist, the fullback is passed, and with a straight field before him, 21 wild excited and determined men behind him, Potter sees a goal all but won—but what an all. Steinberger has been running forward, too, and as Potter dodges by the fullback, he has turned to the wrong side and the K. U. man tackles, and both fall. Forty long yards are gained though and right upon the 25-yard line Ottawa stands with the ball. Taylor goes straight through the line for eight yards. Again Ottawa masses and Taylor gains twelve more and lies safe and with the ball upon the 5-yard line, two K. U. men beneath him. Again the ball is forced through for three yards, and two yards from the goal line, with bated breath K. U. lines up and tries to stop the inevitable. With an irresistible rush, Tuomey is pushed over the line. Taylor kicks the goal. Score: Ottawa 6; K. U. 0.

Piatt kicks the ball and Taylor catches and gains fifteen yards before downed by Cowan. Potter goes around the end for five yards and is tackled by Piatt. Taylor goes through the center for five yards, tries it again and is tackled cleverly by Williamson. K. U. gets the ball on a fumble; Steinberger and Taylor come together with a crash and look unutterable things into each other's eyes for an instant. Ottawa again secures the ball on downs and Potter goes around the end for six yards.

Near the center of the field, the ball sways back and forth, first in Ottawa and then in K. U. territory. Bucking the line is the favorite play of both teams, and the work waxes furious. Cowan walks over two men regardless of hygienic principles and Potter makes another clever run of 25 yards. Taylor goes through the line, only to have the famous Cowan rob him of the ball in a manner that dazes him. The ball is dangerously near K. U.'s goal but Piatt punts forty yards and the scene of action changes.

Taylor gets the ball and in his run forward, in some mysterious manner, Piatt, the slugger, is dropped in his tracks and lies under the care of the surgeon for an instant. Before three minutes are up he is on his feet and the men line up desperate and just a little vicious.

Ten minutes to the end of the half. Taylor has his head badly cut and the side of his face is red with blood. He will not quit, however, and the game goes on, Ottawa being terribly handicapped because of not being able to send Taylor through the center. The ball is lost on downs and comes steadily down the field in the hands of K. U. K. U. is desperate and Cowan, the coach, Cowan, the hero of All America's team, the pet of Princeton, is sent straight at the Ottawa line and pushed forward for short gains. Shellenbarger is sent through the end for fifteen yards and the ball is upon Ottawa's ten-yard line. Twice with might and muscle the K. U. men try to shove Cowan over, but with no success. Five yards from the goal Cowan deserts his end and goes flying around the right end, Hamill close to him, but unavailing in his efforts to prevent the goal. The students of K. U. wildly cheer and make noise enough for two universities as Piatt kicks the goal, the score is tied and the half ended. Ten seconds more and Ottawa would have been safe.

The second half is an entirely different game. Punts are made upon every possible occasion, Tuomey making several splendid ones. Piatt kicks well, but realizes he is a marked man and slugs with care. In the opening scrimmage Taylor drops the ball but Potter with a jump is on it, beneath a struggling mass of players, Cowan trying vainly to gouge the ball from under him. A fumble gives it to K. U. and bucking the line, K. U. works her way down to the 15-yard line. Ottawa hearts beat quicker as Cowan tries vainly to force the line and only relaxes as Tuomey kicks and the ball goes forty yards up the field straight away from the goal line. Another fumble and K. U. again comes down the field. K. U. fumbles in her turn, but Williamson is there. Ottawa gets the ball again on downs and "Kid" Allen saves it on a fumble by throwing himself under the feet of the K. U. line. Cowan tries to break through with the ball, passes Moon and Davidson but is caught by Taylor and thrown with a thud that makes the K. U. men fairly start in their fear for him. He takes his full time to rise again. Piatt makes a miserable kick to the side and loses the ball, Potter runs ten yards before downed for Ottawa and the ball is again marching into K. U. ground. Moody, Y. M. C. A. Moody, is disqualified for slugging stalwart Taylor, who leads him from the field and expostulates with him in a manner that causes Ottawa to cheer. K. U. gets the ball again on downs, Pope fumbles but Williamson is there as usual. Piatt punts, Tuomey makes a great catch and gets the ball forward 20 yards before he is tackled. Three times during the half, the ball has been upon Ottawa's 15-yard line. Three times have Ottawa's faces lengthened, but by hard work it is left well into K. U. territory as time is called and the game is over.

Two Good Teams, Both Baptists

Sioux Falls Outfit is Also Called Braves

It used to be that early season college basketball games were strictly warm-up affairs. That is no longer true. Especially will it not be true when Ottawa University Braves take the court for their hoop start against a strong team from Sioux Falls (S. D.) College next Thursday night in Ottawa. A year ago in the northern city the two clubs fought a nip-and-tuck battle on New Year's eve and should do no less this year.

Incidentally, the visitors also represent a Baptist college and are known in athletic circles as the Braves. Thus it will be Baptist against Baptist and Brave against Brave. That is not all. The Dakotans have a tall center who matches Omer Brenton in size and skill.

Coach Dick Godlove kept his proteges busy last night running through a variety of drill in handling the ball, shooting and blocking. There are four new men out for forward positions: Burton Cowan, formerly of Fort Scott junior college; Melvin Sarchet, Superior, Neb.; David Laury, Ottawa, and Harry Teel, Osage City. Eleven others are hoping for guard berths: Leray Barrett, formerly of Iola junior college; Larry Smith, Wyandotte high of Kansas City; Maurice Gibbons, St. Marys; Bob Wilson, Valley Falls; Earl Schlick, Lorraine; Jack Weinheimer, Ottawa; Wayne Howbert, Berryton; Jewell Anderson, Gower, Mo.; George Woodward, Geneo; Raymond Schmidt, Lorraine, and Glen Singleton, Platte City, Mo.

To go with this group of new men, Godlove has five lettermen: Omer Brenton, center; Lyman Morgan and Jack Ramsey, forwards; and Bob Schupbach and Walter Reames, guards. Willard Beaman is numeral forward returning from the squad of last winter.
