

*Thinksheet #1066.

When two series of ideas converge, a space way ["diagram"] for exploring their possible interactions is the window, or simple grid. Decades after using it productively, I discovered that it is the pattern (or Gestalt or structure or paradigm) behind a fantasy work of a mathematician: ALICE IN WONDERLAND. In interpersonalism, it's "the Johari window."* What this thinksheet does is to (1) letter the panes and (2) provide a worksheet inclusive of all the possibilities of this simplest, two-dimensional thought-grid.....

The SIX two-way possibilities....

....doubled as ONE-ways (this col., reverse)

A	B
C	D

AB

BA

AC

CA

AD

DA

BC

CB

BD

DB

CD

DC