

ON THE SIN OF FAILING TO EXPRESS APPRECIATION --- Elliott #1702

Ethelind, daughter of the Rev. Calvin Wright, did this in appreciation for something she heard me say sometime somewhere--but I don't know what it was.

The ingrate (I was brought up to believe) is unworthy of what he/she's received and also of any further blessings. Failing to express appreciation for someone's effort (whether or not that person's intention was to bless the one who thus fails) is one form of ingratitude.
