

"How full our privileges!--to do nothing but what God will approve, and accept everything God may assign!"

1. Who said this? _____ The answer is not as important as this:

2. What historical personages might have said it?

3. Who among wellknown contemporaries?

4. Who among your friends, associates, acquaintances?

5. FIRST CLAUSE: "to do nothing but what God will approve":

a. How does this make you feel?

b. What intellectual questions, if any, do you have about it?

c. Does it give you any ideas for action?

6. SECOND CLAUSE: "to accept everything God may assign":

a. How does this make you feel?

b. What intellectual questions, if any, do you have about it?

c. Does it give you any ideas for action?

7. Further considerations: