1. "The Shelter of the Most High"

   - This is like a great, majestic mountain.
   - Giving shade in the midst of the heat
   - And protection from the storms.

Helmut Thielicke

"I have known moments—like everybody else—in which discouragement crept into my heart and I felt utterly stricken. My work in Stuttgart seemed to have gone to pieces, and my listeners were scattered to the four winds; the church lay in rubble and ashes. On one occasion when I was absorbed in these gloomy thoughts, I was looking down into the concrete pit of a cellar, which had been shattered by a bomb, and in which more than fifty young persons had been killed. A woman came up to me and asked whether I was so and so, since she was not sure whom I was in the clothes I wore. Then she said, "My husband died down there. His place was right under the table. The cleanup squad was unable to find a trace of him; all that was left was his cap. We were there the last time you preached in the cathedral. When I was before his file I want to thank you for preparing him for eternity."

"Through Gates of Splendor"

Betty Elliott account at the end of the book.

"To the wives and relatives of the five men, the white longing of their hearts was echoed by words found in Jim Elliot's diary: "I walked on to the hill just now.

It was exhilarating, delightful, to stand embraced by the shadows of a friendly tree with the wind teasing at your collar and the heavens filling your heart, to gaze and glorify and give oneself again to God - what more could a man ask? Oh, the fullness, pleasure, sheer excitement of knowing God on earth! I can not if I never raise my voice again for Him, if only

I may love Him, please Him. Mayhap in mercy

He shall give me a host of children that I may lead them through the vast star fields to explore His Delicacies whose fingers ever set them to humming.

But if not, if only I may see Him, touch His garments and smile into His eyes - ah, then, not stars, nor children shall matter, only Himself."

His Security comes from first Hand Knowledge

0. Cleaves to me in love
- Passion like a great love.
- Keep of faith.

1. Know my Name
- Coming to "know John Jones"
- "Our Father"

3. He calls me
