

PSYCHOTHERAPY/THEOLOGY-CONVERGENCE EXERCISE .....Elliott #558B

Today (29 Jan 75) at 4pm NYTS begins its first effort to integrate, on a formal basis, theology and psychotherapy—the STM/PC INTEGRATION SEMINAR. Of this effort, the polymorphous potential is so vast that every day I think up a new way to begin and proceed, and have for months! Which brings us down to today: in today's mail was the new THESIS cassette (5.12), with Tom Oden's 13-minute segment on "Intimacy." After prayer and the explanation of this exercise I've devised as a where-we-all-are exercise, we'll give a critical listen (4.05-18pm), then I'll call the roll and ask for a theological critique of Tom's interview.

GOVERNING QUESTION: In the light of what you hope to get out of this seminar, this is how Oden's interview appears to me:

strengths	strengths
