

Minutes of Olympian Literary Society
1924-25

Oct 4. A special meeting of the Olympian Literary Society was called at which time Ada Borgmann as head of the Olympian committee for the Literary societies reception made a few appointments for committees for the reception - Meeting adjourned.

Oct 11. Literary Session-

Hymn- Society

Devotionals - Charles Trent

What and Why - Theodore Palmquist

Wrinkles- Jessie McKay

Society Song Blue and Gold- Society

Who Wins- Edwin Lewis

Critic's Report - Professor Ritchie

Immediately after the program everybody joined in a ten minutes social time together-

After adjournment, a business meeting was held. Several matters were discussed: the matter of rushing, whether we should continue having our meeting every week, the matter of the Philal- Olympian debate and the general program of the society for the year; The committee is to be appointed to -in about finishing, raising the money for the brass plate. It was decided not to elect a critic until at a later date. It was decided to have a committee to draw up a permanent initiation ritual. Discussion as to whether literary societies are really necessary to the school. Mr. Palmquist slated our four big aims for the year; completing the fund for the brass plate, initiation of new members, good programs, Philal Olympian debate- Let's make this an Olympian year- Adjournment

M.M. Sec