University Faculty

Ottawa University holds the distinction of providing full time teaching faculty at its adult campuses as well as its residential campus. The University currently retains 59 full time and part time faculty members located throughout its campuses. While all campuses use highly-qualified adjunct instructors, the University considers the availability of a full time faculty critical to the educational success of its students. By providing knowledge from both their educational and professional backgrounds, full time faculty members mentor students effectively. Full time faculty members also have oversight of the curriculum including new course development relevant to their academic expertise.

Doctoral degrees (or the equivalent) are held by 61% of the University’s teaching faculty members while 36% hold Master degrees (or the equivalent). The faculty is 46% male and 54% female. Regarding racial identity, 82 percent of the faculty members are white and the remaining members represent Black, Asian, Hispanic and American Indian races and ethnicities.

The faculty members of Ottawa University represent a cadre of distinguished educational backgrounds. Examples of domestic educational institutions from which they have earned degrees include—

- Amherst College
- Cornell University
- Dartmouth College
- Duke University
- Marquette University
- New York University
- Princeton Theological Seminary
- Smith College
- Washington University
- Yale University

Also represented are several state universities. Examples of international universities at which Ottawa University faculty have earned degrees include—

- Chosun University
- Delhi School of Economics
- Oxford University
- Sweelinck Conservatorium Amsterdam
- University of Belgrade
- University of Cape Town
- University of Jordan
- University of Newcastle
- University of Tel-Aviv
- University of Belgrade